Chapter 1

The Flying Scroll: Counterfeit Universal Law

The prophet and priest Zechariah's ministry began over 2500 years ago in 520 B.C. during the construction of the Second Temple when Zerubbabel governed Israel and Joshua was Israel's high priest. The word of the Lord which Zechariah delivered related not only to the rebuilding of the temple in his day, but also to that day when the Lord would return to Jerusalem in power and glory to consume the kingdom of Antichrist and establish himself as King on earth for 1000 years.

Zechariah 5 includes the 6th and 7th visions received and recorded by Zechariah. The visions appear to be received at the same time since there is no separation indicated concerning the time they were received by Zechariah.

Zechariah 5:3-6 indicates that the two visions may be intertwined. Zechariah 5:5-6 explain that it's an ephah that goeth forth through all the earth. Zechariah 5:3 had previously stated that the curse goeth forth over the face of the whole. Both the ephah and the curse have a global impact which could indicate the two visions are linked.

The language used in the visions is intended to be interpreted metaphorically. The Holy Spirit used symbolic language that Zechariah could understand to represent future things that he wouldn't be able to comprehend if they were literally described. Words like ephah, talent of lead, the woman, weight of lead, the mouth, wind was in their wings and wings like a stork are metaphors used to describe unknown future things in symbolic terms that Zechariah could understand.

The time of the fulfillment of these visions is unspecified. Since the fulfillment of the prophecy includes global destruction and many of Zechariah's prophecies were apocalyptic, there's no reason to believe that these two visions can't be related to that day when the Lord would return.

Chapter 5 begins with a description of a flying roll seen by Zechariah. The 30' long by 15' wide flying roll is said by the angel speaking to the prophet to represent the curse that goeth forth over the face of the whole earth. (Zechariah 5:1-3)

Does this flying roll represent the two tables of God's law?

Traditionally, the flying roll has been said to represent God's law. This conclusion is logical based upon a surface correlation of scriptural cross references such as Psalm 40:7 and I Kings 6:3 with Zechariah 5:1-3. For the following reasons, however, I believe that the roll doesn't represent God's law.

1. Scripture doesn't explicitly state that the flying roll represents God's law.

As a result, there's no biblical mandate to dogmatically assert that it does. Zechariah 5:3 clearly states that the flying roll represents the global curse.

2. God's law isn't described in negative terms as a curse in scripture.

The flying roll is clearly said to be the curse that goeth forth over the face of the whole earth. (Zechariah 5:3) It's true that those rejecting the law are under a curse (Galatians 3:10). Disregard of God's covenant will cause God to imprecate or invoke the curse upon lawbreakers. The law itself, however, isn't a curse. God's law remains as it's described in Romans 7:12: holy, just and good.

Counterfeit Universal Law

Webster's American Dictionary of the English Language defines counterfeit as "made in imitation of something else, with a view to defraud." Zechariah 5:3-4 teach that adherents to the teaching of this flying scroll live deceitfully in the name of the Lord. In other words, their faith in the Lord is counterfeit.

Is it possible that the flying roll represents another law besides God's law; a counterfeit global or Universal Law?

Most definitely! Consider that the dimensions of the flying roll correspond with the dimensions of the porch of King Solomon's temple. (1 Kings 6:1-3)

Logically, the common dimensions between the porch and the roll have been used to teach that the roll represents God's moral law. I would propose, however, that the flying roll or curse is linked with the dimensions of the temple porch because it represents a counterfeit: the future Universal Law. (Revelation 13:11-18)

Solomon to return as the False Prophet ?

This is mere theory, however, it's possible that the future False Prophet will be identified as a returning King Solomon. In fact, strange as this may sound, it's possible that the apparent reappearance or reincarnation of Solomon the King may be explained scientifically as a result of the power of gold to manipulate space-time.

Nuclear physicists are teaching that space-time can be manipulated and that matter can be in two places at one time through monatomic gold (mfkzt) and the technology of Superconductivity.

Laurence Gardner was a Master Mason of the United Grand Lodge of England for 20 years. Distinguished as the Chevalier Labhràn de St. Germain, he is a Fellow of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland, constitutional historian, composer, international lecturer, broadcaster, Presidential Attaché to the European Council of Princes, and the appointed Jacobite Historiographer Royal.

As a worldwide emissary for the Royal House of Stewart, Sir Laurence is Prior of the Sacred Kindred of Saint Columba, a Knight Templar of St. Anthony and Envoy to the Grand Protectorate of the Imperial Dragon Court of Hungary and international best selling author.

Sir Gardner has written a book entitled the Lost Secrets of the Sacred Ark. The book is subtitled: amazing revelations of the incredible power of gold, and according to Gardner might have been entitled "Destiny of the House of Gold."

The following excerpt from Sir Gardner's site at graal.co.uk/whitepowdergold.html explains:

As related in Laurence Gardner's book, Lost Secrets of the Sacred Ark, scientific attention has recently been directed towards an exotic form of elemental matter not shown in the Periodic Table of Elements.

Derived from gold, platinum group metals and other transition elements, these impalpable white powder substances have been referred to as 'monatomic' (a single atomic state). As such, they were classified by their research pioneer, David Hudson, in the 1980s as ORMEs (Orbitally Rearranged Monatomic Elements). New understandings in physics suggest however, that the powders might actually be 'diatomic' or small atomic cluster 'condensates'. It is now generally accepted, therefore, that the materials might be more universally referred to by the generic terms ORMUS or 'M-state' elements.

In the field of quantum mechanics, NASA scientists have recently confirmed that matter can indeed be in two places at once. It is now an established fact that, through quantum entanglement, particles millions of light-years apart can be connected without physical contact. Space-time can now be manipulated; teleportation is becoming a reality; gravity-resistant material is now heralded for air transport, and virtual science has led to a greater understanding of hyper-dimensional existence.

In Lost Secrets of the Sacred Ark, Laurence Gardner reveals that the keys to all this are: (a) Mfkzt - referred to by the Institute of Advanced Studies as 'exotic monatomic matter', and (b) the amazing technology of Superconductivity - acclaimed by the Center for Advanced Study as 'the most remarkable physical property in the universe'.

It is clear however, from the documentary evidence of ancient times, that the attributes of superconductors and gravity defiance were known, even if not understood, in a distant world of priestly levitation, godly communication and the phenomenal power of the Elektrikus.

The esoteric tradition of Solomon can be traced back to the Gnostics and their influence on the early Christianity. Their texts referred to the Book Of Solomon. (Bloodline of the Holy Grail by Laurence Gardner. Copyright 2001, pg. 318-319)

The scriptures teach that Solomon apostasized as a result of his relationships with many foreign wives and became involved in abominable occult rituals associated with demonic worship of false gods such as Chemosh, Molech, Ashoreth and Milcom. (1 Kings 11:1-9)

Masonic literature teaches that King Solomon was the revered model of the royal Frank dynasty of Merovingian Kings. (Bloodline of the Holy Grail by Laurence Gardner. Copyright 2001, pg. 144-145)

The Merovingian Kings are falsely believed to be descended from Jesus. It's from their royal lineage that a future King of Jerusalem is expected to descend. This future King of Jerusalem is believed to be destined to implement the Knight Templar policy of reconciling Christianity with Judaism and Islam. (Holy Blood, Holy Grail by Michael Baigent, Richard Leigh and Henry Lincoln. Copyright 1982, 1983, pg. 398-402)

Laurence Gardner explains that the Qumran Scrolls and the Dead Sea Scrolls teach that the Qumran community was awaiting two Messiah's (Bloodline of the Holy Grail by Laurence Gardner. Copyright 2001, pg.309) :

- one a priest called the Teacher of Righteousness
- the second a warrior prince like David who would be descended from David and would restore the kingdom to Israel.

From a biblical perspective the priest parallels the role of the false prophet and the warrior prince parallels Antichrist's role.

Historically, the Jewish people have awaited a Prophet like Moses who will declare God's will and verify the reality of God in his life and message with miracles based upon the prophecy found in Deuteronomy 18:15-19 and Malachi 4:1-6. Acts 3:22 and 7:37, however, reveal Jesus Christ as the prophet referred to in the prophecy of Deuteronomy 18:15-19.

In light of Jesus' fulfillment of Deuteronomy 18:15-19, in biblical terms this coming "Prophet" or "King of Jerusalem" would be termed the False Prophet. The False Prophet is identified in Revelation 13:13, 16:13, 19:20 and 20:10. He is the counterfeit fulfillment of the Jewish people's search for a prophet like Moses. He will perform miracles on behalf of Antichrist the beast 666 causing the world to worship Antichrist. (Revelation 13:12-13) He'll command the people to make a representative likeness or image to Antichrist the beast. (Revelation 13:14) He will command the people to worship the idol or die. (Revelation 13:15) He will miraculously empower the image to live and speak on behalf of Antichrist the beast 666. (Revelation 13:15) He'll institute Universal Law requiring that a person receive in their right hand or forehead a mark which gives them the legal right to participate in the economic system. (Revelation 13:16-17)

Laurence Gardner advocates a Constitutional Guardian, an empowered champion of a Written Constitution working alongside political administration to ensure that government decisions remain in accordance with Constitutional law and that it serves the interests of the people. Gardner writes: "Such a concept of moral government lies at the very heart of the Grail Code, and it remains within the bounds of possibility for every civilized nation-state." (Bloodline of the Holy Grail by Laurence Gardner. Copyright 2001, pg. 299) Is this possibly a role of the future False Prophet within global government that Sir Gardner is speaking of here?

Interestingly, there's a correlation exists between scripture and Freemasonry concerning Solomon as a counterfeit Prophet called the Lion of the Tribe of Judah.

Revelation 5:5 identifies Jesus Christ as the Lion of the tribe of Judah. In Judeo-Freemasonry, however, King Solomon is referred to as the Lion of the tribe of Judah as this quote reveals:

"The Lion that guarded the Ark and held in his mouth the key wherewith to open it, figuratively represents Solomon, the Lion of the Tribe of Judah, who preserved and communicated the key to the true knowledge of God, of His laws, and of the profound mysteries of the moral and physical Universe." (Albert Pike, Morals & Dogma, p. 210)

In addition, the late Manly Hall, prominent 33^o Mason and the founder of The Philosophical Research Society, Inc. calls Solomon the King of the Universe.

"Every true Mason...realizes that the Temple of Solomon is really the Temple of the Solar Man – Sol-Om-On – the King of the Universe." (Manly Hall 33^o, The Lost Keys of Freemasonry or The Secret Of Hiram Abiff, Richmond, VA: Macoy Publishing and Masonic Supply Company, Inc., 1976. pg. 63)

Lon Milo DuQuette, author of the 5/2006 release "The Key To Solomon's Key", is currently the U.S. Deputy Grand Master General of Ordo Templi Orientis; the largest magical society in the world. The O.T.O. is one of the most influential occult orders of the last century. He states:

"The purpose of Masonry's veneration of Solomon is not to advance an alternative view of history, but to present, however subtly, the archetype of the future human being-men and women who truly possess Solomon's Key-the power to master our own demons and redirect their destructive energy to build the Temple of our own evolving soul."

There's also a correlation in scripture between Antichrist the beast 666 and King Solomon. Consider the common 666 bond existing between Solomon and Antichrist in the following scriptures:

"Now the weight of gold that came to Solomon in one year was six hundred threescore and six talents of gold..." (1 Kings 10:14)

"Here is wisdom. Let him that hath understanding count the number of the beast: for it is the number of a man; and his number is Six hundred threescore and six." (Rev. 13:18)

Occultists are promoting the concept of King Solomon being the King using a combination of the Bible and occult numerology. They teach that Solomon refers to himself as Wisdom in Proverbs and Revelation 13:18 refers to wisdom when speaking of 666. They view Solomon as the personification of the wisdom of Most High and conclude that the man Solomon the King is the Beast 666. Here's a sample of their teaching called "The City of Babalon (Babylon) By Guardians of Darkness-Comrade August.

The Building of the Temple is the central idea of Freemasonry; it is the evolution of man; raising him to godhead....

I think this is sufficient to give you a very clear picture of the two pillars of the Temple, and of the Universe.

These two pillars are the first key to our understanding of the Temple of Solomon the King; we may not enter the Temple save by passing between the pillars, and we cannot pass between them until we fully grasp their meaning.

The second key lies with our understanding of King Solomon himself, and as always in the Bible things are not what they seem to be.

St. Paul tells that the leading characters of the scripture also represent great Universal principles, and this is pre-eminently the case with Solomon.

His name, in common with the names Salem and Jerusalem, is derived from a word signifying Wholeness (Salim, the Whole), and therefore means a man who has realised the Wholeness, the underlying Unity. This is the secret of his greatness and his wisdom.

The allegory of the Beast turns up once more when we examine the nature of the name Solomon. Solomon can be cut into three words; "Sol" is Latin for "sun," the word "Om" is Hindi for "sun," and the word "On" is Egyptian for "sun." Also, the vowel "o" is symmetrically placed throughout the word three times. Note that, apart from looking like the sun, "o" is the fifteenth letter of the alphabet.

O O O

151 + 515 = "666", the number of the Beast.

In the occult realm of Masonic literature there lies the belief that by 1127 A. D. the Knights Templar had retrieved the Ark of the Covenant from beneath Solomon's Temple. It's believed that the Ark of the Covenant contained an undeterminable treasure in the Qumran Copper Scroll and secret Tables of Testimony which Knights Templar falsely teach were written by God. The Knights Templar are said to be descendants of a priestly order established by King Solomon. (The Second Messiah by Christopher Knight & Robert Lomas, copyright 1997, pg. 216-219)

These Tables of Testimony are said to contain the cosmic equation, the divine law of number, measure and weight and true insight into the falsely alleged misinterpretation of the Virgin Birth and Resurrection of Jesus Christ by the church.

World renowned Knight Templar Laurence Gardner wrote in 2001 that Mary Magdalene will become more prominent as the new inspiration of the Aquarian Age-the age of renewed intellect, wisdom and the Universal Law of the Ark. (Bloodline of the Holy Grail by Laurence Gardner, copyright 2001, pg. 220)

With the current mainstream revelation of the false Freemasonic and Knights Templar doctrine concerning the hidden lineage of Jesus Christ being currently spread like a virus by the DaVinci Code; is the world being conditioned to receive a new Universal Law such as the Universal Law of the Ark?

Will this Universal Law contain legislation mandating personal possession of the mark in the right hand or forehead in order for a person to participate in the global economy?

Is this Universal Law of the Ark possibly the flying scroll or global curse that Zechariah 5:1-4 was referring to?

Will an apparent reincarnation or reappearance of Solomon reveal the false prophet of Revelation 13:13?

Questions like these may be good food for thought. At this point in history, however, conclusions based upon links between King Solomon's porch dimensions; Freemasonry, Knights Templar, Antichrist and the False Prophet would only be theories.

Biblical evidence that the flying roll represents the global law of Antichrist

What supporting biblical evidence exists to back-up this claim that the flying roll represents the Universal Law of Antichrist the Beast 666 rather than the true law of God?

1. People under this covenant or law are using secretive, deceitful, deceptive means of acquisition which would be considered false according to a covenant of faith with a holy God. (Zechariah 5:4)

2. The word curse (Strong's #423) used to describe something "that goeth forth over the face of the whole earth" in Zechariah 5:3 is the Hebrew word alah. Curse or alah means swearing. It's origin is from the Hebrew root meaning to adjure. To adjure means to solemnly swear on oath or make a serious, legal declaration.

Curse (Strong's #423) is translated oath in Genesis 26:28 and Ezekiel 17:13-19 where it describes a covenant between men. Although curse can refer to a covenant between God and man, it isn't used solely in this manner in scripture. As a result, the flying roll or curse could represent an oath of covenant or agreement between men which breaks God's covenant. This oath could be an initiatory "pledge of allegiance" to the name and universal law of the beast and receipt of the mark in the body. (Revelation 13:11-18)

3. In Zechariah's time, the word curse (Strong's #423) also referred to a public summons aiming to gather information concerning a crime. A person would be held guilty as an accomplice to a crime if he withheld testimony concerning his knowledge of the crime. (Leviticus 5:1)

Prophetic scriptures teach that in that day when the Lord returns he will overthrow a secretive, antichristian, tyrannical government employing spies on the lookout to indict innocent people on false charges like speech crime and defraud its victims of legal justice. (Isaiah 29:15-21)

The gospel writers spoke of this time of great tribulation for the church as one in which those that believe in Jesus Christ will be subjected to a mass betrayal of hate crime coming from apostate professing believers, family, and friends. (Matthew 24:9-10; Mark 13:9-13; Luke 21:12-19)

The prophet Micah describes this corrupt, tyrannical Orwellian world in Micah 6-7 as being filled with distrust and deceit and danger to the good who speak truthfully to the wrong person. (Micah 7:2-6)

World government is progressing rapidly toward the fulfillment of these prophecies. If you doubt this, consider the progress of the United States government towards establishing an all-seeing dictatorship based upon the unconstitutional misuse of Presidential Executive Orders; Presidential declaration of Martial Law or Military Rule in a "crisis"; a National/Global microchip based ID system; and the abolition of the privacy of American citizens through recording and seizure of communication records as part of an unconstitutional spying government bureaucracy. 4. Covenants of Antichrist

A. Covenant with death and hell

Daniel 7:25 predicts Antichrist will intend to change laws as he afflicts great tribulation upon the church in his war against her. (Revelation 6:9-11, 7:9-

17,13:7; Matthew 24:21; Daniel 12:1; Mark 13:19; Luke 21:23)

Some of these laws may be the ones used against those spoken of in Isaiah 29:15-21; Matthew 24:9-10; Mark 13:9-13; Luke 21:12-19 and Micah 7:2-6.

In the context of that day in which the Lord returns, Isaiah warns Israel's leaders that their covenant with death and hell based upon lies and falsehood will be a terrifying source of horror from the time it goeth forth. Isaiah writes that this false covenant will be cancelled; but it's earthly impact upon will ultimately culminate in God's destruction of the whole earth. (Isaiah 28:14-22) This whole earth destruction parallels the global destruction to be caused by the curse mentioned in Zechariah 5:3-4.

Also, in the context of that day in which the Lord returns, Isaiah explains that the curse (Strong's #423) destroyed the majority of the earth's inhabitants because it's people threw out God's laws and established their own ordinances. (Isaiah 24:5-6) These human ordinances parallel a Universal Law.

Among the adjectives Timothy used to describe the apostates of the last days are blasphemers, trucebreakers, false accusers, traitors and despisers of those that are good, speaking lies in hypocrisy; having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof. (1 Timothy 4:1-2; 2 Timothy 3:1-4) Timothy's adjectives parallel the descriptions of those that are destroyed by the curse, the thief and him that sweareth falsely. The thief is one who acquires by secret acts and deception and sweareth falsely means to act deceitfully according to one's faith and break God's covenant. (Zechariah 5:3-4)

B. Covenant of Apostasy: 666

Scripture teaches that Antichrist, foaming at the mouth in rage against the holy covenant, Israel and the people of God, will "have intelligence with them that forsake the holy covenant". (Daniel 11:30) This means that he distinguishes and marks or attends to people based upon their willingness to apostasize and forsake the holy covenant or the true God in order to unite with him.

This separation of those who will stand with Antichrist in apostasy from those who refuse apostasy parallels the prophecy of Revelation 13:16-18.

Revelation 13:16-18 teaches that those refusing to worship the image of the beast are killed. Only those that will receive the beast 666's mark as a stamp of servitude upon their right hand or in their forehead; or those that choose to use the name of the beast or his number 666, will be entitled to receive the economic benefits of participation in the global economy.

Zechariah 5:4 states concerning the curse that the Lord will "bring it forth".

Traditionally, this verse has been used to support the belief that God sends forth his law to destroy sinners. Is this definitely the intended meaning of this phrase?

Consider that the Hebrew word used for “bring it forth” is yatsa (Strong's #3318) which can also mean depart or leave. Yatsa is used in Jeremiah 38:2 in this manner where the fate of those that remain in the city is contrasted with those that “goeth forth” or depart/leave to go to the Chaldeans. Thus, it's possible that what the Lord is saying here actually means, “I will depart”, rather than “I will make the curse go forth”. In Hosea 9:12 the Lord speaks of departing from Ephraim and in Jeremiah 23:33-39 he speaks of forsaking false prophets. In any case, Zechariah 5:4 shouldn't be used as dogmatic proof that the Lord is sending forth his law to curse and destroy sinners. It's possible that Zechariah 5:4 is communicating that the Lord departs in response to the people's apostasy and the idolatry involved in receiving the message of the false prophet and submitting to the Universal Law of Antichrist. This departure of the Lord brings a curse upon the idolaters in place of the blessedness of God's presence.

The chapter to follow will study the vision of the ephah found in Zechariah 5:5-11 and reveals it's relationship to the vision of the flying scroll in Zechariah 5:1-4.

Chapter 2

The Woman in the Midst of the Ephah: U.S. Leads Globalization of Capitalism

Then the angel that talked with me went forth, and said unto me, Lift up now thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth. And I said, What is it? And he said, This is an ephah that goeth forth. He said moreover, This is their resemblance through all the earth. And, behold, there was lifted up a talent of lead: and this is a woman that sitteth in the midst of the ephah. And he said, This is wickedness. And he cast it into the midst of the ephah; and he cast the weight of lead the mouth thereof. (Zechariah 5:5-8)

In Chapter 1 we learned that the flying scroll or curse that Zechariah saw was a representation of a forthcoming Universal Law of Antichrist to be taught by the False Prophet of Revelation 13:13.

In Zechariah 5:5, the same angel who revealed the vision of the flying roll or curse that goeth forth now reveals to the prophet "what is this that goeth forth". In Zechariah 5:6, the angel explains that it's an "ephah that goeth forth" and that the ephah is their "resemblance through all the earth".

Chapter 1 showed that the impact of the flying roll or curse was global. Likewise, in this chapter we'll see that the ephah's impact is global as expressed in the phrase "through all the earth".

This chapter accomplishes three main objectives in its interpretation of Zechariah 5:5-8:

1. Defines the ephah as a corrupt global economic system
2. Discloses the identity of the woman and her role within the ephah
3. Illustrates the parallels between the woman and the leadership role of the United States in the New World Order and the globalization of capitalism

The chapter begins with the definition of the ephah.

The ephah

The ephah was a Hebrew dry measure of grain consisting of approximately one bushel capacity. It was the standard for measuring grain and similar articles.

Leviticus 19:36 refers to a just ephah or a fair exchange of goods. Amos 8:5, on the other hand, addresses the issue of an unfair exchange of goods. Amos describes an unjust or fraudulent ephah that has been deceitfully manipulated by the seller to steal additional profit from the buyer.

In broad macroeconomic sense, the ephah referred to in Zechariah 5:6 refers to either a just or unjust global economic system because the verse states that the ephah is “their resemblance through all the earth”.

Whether or not this system is just or unjust will be determined by the context surrounding Zechariah 5:6. The context will reveal that the ephah is an unjust global economic system.

Their resemblance through all the earth

The word resemblance used in Zechariah 5:6 is the Hebrew word ayin (Strongs # 5869). Ayin is usually translated eye or sight in the Old Testament. It has the meaning of outward appearance, representation, or presence. Figuratively, resemblance can refer to the presence of mental and spiritual faculties and their associated powers of perception.

Zechariah 5:7-8 tells us that a talent of lead is lifted up. Lifted up is translated from Strongs #5375 (nasa) meaning exalted. These verses also explain that this talent of lead is a woman that sitteth in the midst of the ephah.

Sitteth, Strongs #3472, is also translated inhabit or dwell in the Old Testament. It’s meaning in the context of Zechariah 5:8, however, is determined by the fact that the woman has a central role in the ephah. She sitteth in the midst, or in the middle of the ephah.

The word talent, Strongs #3603, can physically refer to a round district or metaphorically represent mental and spiritual faculties or abilities. Since the vision is symbolic and the context involves the woman’s central role in the ephah, the exaltation of the talent represents the woman’s superior abilities.

Zechariah 5:8 further explains that the woman is wickedness which sitteth in the midst of the ephah. Wickedness, Strongs #7564, rishah, refers to wickedness in ethical relations. It can refer to violence and crime against civil law. In other words, the woman plays a corrupt, violent, unethical, central role within the economic system. In light of this truth, we can conclude that the ephah is an unjust global economic system.

Scriptures such as Malachi 3:3, Isaiah 6:1, 14:13, 26:5, 28:6; Psalm 132:12; Ecclesiastes 10:6; Proverbs 31:23 use Strongs #3427 sitteth to indicate the rank or importance of someone or a person’s powerful position of authority.

In the context of Zechariah 5:7-8 we can conclude that these verses portray a gifted, powerful, influential, corrupt, violent, unethical, immoral woman’s central role within an unjust global economic system.

The woman

Zechariah 5:7 teaches that a woman has a central leadership role in the unjust global economic system. Obviously, the woman is intended to be interpreted figuratively also. What or whom then does the woman represent ?

A foolproof method of biblical interpretation involves the correctly using scripture to interpret scripture. Using this principle, we find in the prophecy of Revelation chapters 17 and 18 a woman called “the great whore“ (Revelation 17:1). The great whore is the mysterious economic and military superpower identified symbolically as Babylon the Great. Babylon the Great mysteriously parallels America the Great. (Please check the following links for supporting biblical study to support this conclusion:)

The paragraphs to follow will show the convergence of parallel passages of scripture with political quotes revealing that the prophecy of Zechariah 5 is being fulfilled through the prominent role of the U.S. in the globalization of capitalism; including the movement of this unjust economic system into Iraq.

Global Capitalism

The fraudulent corporate capitalism that exists today is far different from Adam Smith’s theoretical capitalism. Adam Smith’s capitalism isn’t in complete agreement with biblical principles. (see link) It didn’t, however, possess the corruption that today’s capitalism does. Texas Congressman Ron Paul points this fact out in his 7/9/2002 article entitled “Has Capitalism Failed“.

Mr. Paul notes:

“...A system of capitalism presumes sound money, not fiat money manipulated by a central bank. Capitalism cherishes voluntary contracts and interest rates that are determined by savings, not credit creation by a central bank. It’s not capitalism when the system is plagued with incomprehensible rules regarding mergers, acquisitions, and stock sales, along with wage controls, price controls, protectionism, corporate subsidies, international management of trade, complex and punishing corporate taxes, privileged government contracts to the military-industrial complex, and a foreign policy controlled by corporate interests and overseas investments. Add to this centralized federal mismanagement of farming, education, medicine, insurance, banking and welfare. This is not capitalism!”
(<http://www.house.gov/paul/congrec/congrec2002/cr070902.htm>)

Today’s capitalism is rooted in fraud because the U.S. dollar is no longer a fair and honest global medium of exchange. The paper dollar doesn’t represent anything of tangible value such as gold. It’s essentially nothing more than counterfeit paper issued by the Federal Reserve to finance the American military force and economic manipulation required to maintain the dominance of U.S. dollar as the world’s preeminent reserve currency .

Capitalism's most glaring injustice, however, is that it places the lender over the borrower in a master/servant relationship. As Proverbs 22:7 teaches, "the borrower is servant to the lender". By nature, capitalism gives unequal control to lenders. This unjust relationship results in the catastrophic concentration of financial control in the hands of the world's wealthiest bankers.

In spite of this truth, however, many would argue that the globalization of capitalism improves the quality of life physically and psychologically. If that is true, how can we say that the globalization of capitalism as we know it today is unjust?

Before looking at the following examples of injustice and inequality with today's system of capitalism, remember that the tree in the midst of the garden of Eden also appealed to man physically, psychologically and intellectually. (Genesis 3:6) Once it's fruit was internalized, however, the tree became a curse filling man's life with fear, anxiety and stressful work that eventually culminated in death. (Genesis 3:7-20) Likewise, global capitalism appeals to our physical, psychological and intellectual desires with it's promises of increased health, freedom, prosperity, fulfillment and security. In reality, however, capitalism brings a destructive curse that will eventually destroy the true foundation of life within any individual or nation that chooses to internalize it's antichristian methods and values. (Zechariah 5:3-4)

Capitalist government corruption

On the national level, John Perkins, author of the best selling book, "Confessions of An Economic Hit Man", testifies of his involvement in the U.S. manipulating, cheating, and seducing countries around the globe out of trillions of dollars. Perkins claims to have supported U.S. intelligence agencies and multinationals in manipulating and blackmailing foreign leaders into serving U.S. foreign policy and awarding lucrative contracts to the U.S. businesses. Perkins also exposes the lie that the globalization is beneficial to all.

Perkins was recruited by the National Security Agency (NSA) back in the late 1960's; but ultimately he worked from 1971-1981 for Charles T. Main, a Boston based private consulting company, as Chief Economist.

Perkins says that "Economic Hit Men" as he calls them, work for private consulting, construction and engineering firms. This was done to protect the U.S. government's reputation.

According to Perkins, the procedure used by "Economic Hit Men" (EMH) to funnel money from the World Bank, USAID or it's affiliates into the corporations and elites who control the world's resources is summarized as follows:

- identify a developing country with coveted resources that will likely default on a large loan
- arrange a large loan to that country with the World Bank, USAID, or its affiliates to develop the country
- contract with U.S. corporations to build large infrastructure projects serving the rich of the developing country.
- once the targeted country has amassed an insurmountable debt, the EMH is contracted to demand what the U.S. wants (oil companies, cheap oil, land for military bases, voting support at the U.N., troop support, etc.) in exchange from the country to cover the debt.

Perkins illustrates the destructive evils of globalized capitalism championed by the U.S. in the prologue to Confessions of An Economic Hit Man.

An excerpt from this Prologue reads:

“At the time of my first visit in 1968, Texaco had only just discovered petroleum in Ecuador’s Amazon region. Today, oil accounts for nearly half the country’s exports. A trans-Andean pipeline built shortly after my first visit has since leaked over a half million barrels of oil into the fragile rain forest—more than twice the amount spilled by the Exxon Valdez.² Today, a new $1.3 billion, three hundred-mile pipeline constructed by an EHM-organized consortium promises to make Ecuador one of the world’s top ten suppliers of oil to the United States.³ Vast areas of rain forest have fallen, macaws and jaguars have all but vanished, three Ecuadorian indigenous cultures have been driven to the verge of collapse, and pristine rivers have been transformed into flaming cesspools.

During this same period, the indigenous cultures began fighting back. For instance, on May 7, 2003, a group of American lawyers representing more than thirty thousand indigenous Ecuadorian people filed a $1 billion lawsuit against ChevronTexaco Corp. The suit asserts that between 1971 and 1992 the oil giant dumped into open holes and rivers over four million gallons per day of toxic wastewater contaminated with oil, heavy metals, and carcinogens, and that the company left behind nearly 350 uncovered waste pits that continue to kill both people and animals.

Outside the window of my Outback, great clouds of mist rolled in from the forests and up the Pastaza’s canyons. Sweat soaked my shirt, and my stomach began to churn, but not just from the intense tropical heat and the serpentine twists in the road. Knowing the part I had played in destroying this beautiful country was once again taking its toll. Because of my fellow EHMs and me, Ecuador is in far worse shape today than she was before we introduced her to the miracles of modern economics, banking, and engineering. Since 1970, during this period known euphemistically as the Oil Boom, the official poverty level grew from 50 to 70 percent, under- or unemployment increased from 15 to 70 percent, and public debt increased from $240 million to $16 billion. Meanwhile, the share of national resources allocated to the poorest segments of the population declined from 20 to 6 percent.

Unfortunately, Ecuador is not the exception. Nearly every country we EHMs have brought under the global empire’s umbrella has suffered a similar fate.⁶ Third world debt has grown to more than $2.5 trillion, and the cost of servicing it—over $375 billion per year as of 2004—is more than all third world spending on health and education, and twenty times what developing countries receive annually in foreign aid. Over half the people in the world survive on less than two dollars per day, which is roughly the same amount they received in the early 1970s. Meanwhile, the top 1 percent of third world households accounts for 70 to 90 percent of all private financial wealth and real estate ownership in their country; the actual percentage depends on the specific country....

Because of EHM projects, Ecuador is awash in foreign debt and must devote an inordinate share of its national budget to paying this off, instead of using its capital to help the millions of its citizens officially classified as dangerously impoverished. The only way Ecuador can buy down its foreign obligations is by selling its rain forests to the oil companies. Indeed, one of the reasons the EHMs set their sights on Ecuador in the first place was because the sea of oil beneath its Amazon region is believed to rival the oil fields of the Middle East.⁸ The global empire demands its pound of flesh in the form of oil concessions.

Ecuador is typical of countries around the world that EHMs have brought into the economic-political fold. For every $100 of crude taken out of the Ecuadorian rain forests, the oil companies receive $75. Of the remaining $25, three-quarters must go to paying off the foreign debt. Most of the remainder covers military and other government expenses—which leaves about $2.50 for health, education, and programs aimed at helping the poor.⁹ Thus, out of every $100 worth of oil torn from the Amazon, less than $3 goes to the people who need the money most, those whose lives have been so adversely impacted by the dams, the drilling, and the pipelines, and who are dying from lack of edible food and potable water.

All of those people—millions in Ecuador, billions around the planet—are potential terrorists. Not because they believe in communism or anarchism or are intrinsically evil, but simply because they are desperate. Looking at this dam, I wondered—as I have so often in so many places around the world—when these people would take action, like the Americans against England in the 1770s or Latin Americans against Spain in the early 1800s.

The subtlety of this modern empire building puts the Roman centurions, the Spanish conquistadors, and the eighteenth- and nineteenth-century European colonial powers to shame. We EHMs are crafty; we learned from history. Today we do not carry swords. We do not wear armor or clothes that set us apart. In countries like Ecuador, Nigeria, and Indonesia, we dress like local schoolteachers and shop owners. In Washington and Paris, we look like government bureaucrats and bankers. We appear humble, normal. We visit project sites and stroll through impoverished villages. We profess altruism, talk with local papers about the wonderful humanitarian things we are doing. We cover the conference tables of government committees with our spreadsheets and financial projections, and we lecture at the Harvard Business School about the miracles of macroeconomics. We are on the record, in the open. Or so we portray ourselves and so are we accepted. It is how the system works. We seldom resort to anything illegal because the system itself is built on subterfuge, and the system is by definition legitimate....

However—and this is a very large caveat—if we fail, an even more sinister breed steps in, ones we EHMs refer to as the jackals, men who trace their heritage directly to those earlier empires. The jackals are always there, lurking in the shadows. When they emerge, heads of state are overthrown or die in violent “accidents.”¹⁰ And if by chance the jackals fail, as they failed in Afghanistan and Iraq, then the old models resurface. When the jackals fail, young Americans are sent in to kill and to die.”

capitalist system corruption

Not only is the globalization of capitalism based upon fraud and deceit at the government level, it's also unjust at the citizen level. The first example of injustice affecting citizens is that jobs within the system requiring godly virtues and values are more difficult to find and pay less than those requiring ungodly values and attitudes.

Secondly, economic pressure to fit in with others within a capitalistic society; the subtle pressure to acquire more and "better yourself", tempts workers to adopt attitudes that don't express godly virtues. Virtues like humility, love, service, faithfulness, compassion, mercy, faith, quietness and contentedness are often exchanged for selfish aggressiveness, fear, pride, greed, covetousness, materialistic idolatry and selfish competition in the capitalistic culture which is focused on winning the race for more, not serving others in love. Double-minded professing Christians trying to serve both God and money within capitalistic enterprises shipwreck their faith. Many of the shipwrecked aren't even aware of their condition because biblical truth is rarely taught practically and antichristian values characterize the lives of many church leaders. The scripture warns that false teachers would argue in support of a financial philosophy that was based upon the love of money and its associated evils. This philosophy would promise people financial gain, but would trap them in hurtful lifestyles bound to a lust for more that would lead them to hell. (1 Timothy 6:1-10)

Third, multinational capitalists scan the globe electronically in discontent in order to maximize profit. Poor countries are used to minimize operational costs until wage pressures eventually motivate the capitalist to rationalize his next move to a poorer nation. Wages in the poorest nations can't provide the minimal livelihood required in an industrialized community. As a result, children and young single mothers fill foreign factories with safety and environmental issues that wouldn't be legally tolerated in the U.S. American multinational corporate capitalists, however, choose to improve their bottom line at the expense of proper child rearing, worker health and safety, community and family relationships and the natural environment of the poor nations.

Fourth, poor nations are blackmailed with threats that capitalist operations will leave if a nation demands wage increases or other benefits. Governing elites who benefit from the spread of capitalism into their nation need poor workers to remain in low level functions. For this reason, low level workers are unable to develop new skills which would allow them to advance. Real life constraints on the workers time and money make advancement simply a dream without the support of the governing elite.

By producing products in poorer nations outside America, corporations avoid costs that would be incurred under ethical domestic labor, environmental and tax laws. Direct and indirect labor, facility, maintenance, inventory, environmental, safety, and tax expenses can be reduced or bypassed through production in poor, powerless nations. Multinational corporations and governing elites gain at the expense of the people and environment of poorer nations. This occurs because in capitalism's race to win the market share and increase owner and shareholder profit, operations migrate to poorer nations. In poorer nations, operations can legally, yet unethically, abuse the workers and environment. Such abuses include building structurally unsafe factories; maintaining unhealthy and unsafe workplaces, paying less than subsistence wages to children or young women, abusing personnel; dumping toxic wastes; and abandoning the operation and its community when the next relocation can be rationalized.

Aborting a child or sidestepping the consequences of an unwanted pregnancy is legal in America. In truth, however, abortion is immoral under God's law. Aborting or sidestepping operational costs which are undesirable, but are required if a product is going to be produced in a fair and just environment, is immoral, too. Whenever multinational corporations choose to bypass the costs associated with the fair and ethical treatment of the people and environments of poor nations for personal gain, product pricing doesn't reflect true production costs. In the grand scheme of things, the ephah is unjust; the globalization of capitalism is corrupt. (1 Timothy 6:9-10; James 5:1-6)

Morally speaking, a woman is considered a whore if she chooses to use her power over men sexually for personal gain. Likewise, the American woman and her multinational corporate capitalist system, uses her power over poorer nations for personal gain. Her abuses are rationalized because they're performed legally and capitalism's fruit, like the forbidden fruit on the tree in the middle of the Garden of Eden, tastes good to its consumers.

capitalist corporate corruption

In addition to the unethical practices inherent in manufacturing operations; design, sales and marketing organizations have their own unique set of immoralities.

God's law, "Thou shalt not covet" is replaced by capitalism's law "Thou shalt consume", through deceitful, manipulative advertising designed to create consumer lust. This occurs even at the expense of the best interests of children and teenagers.

Other sins include high pressure sales techniques, price gouging, unequal pricing, planned obsolescence, design theft, etc. On top of these moral issues could be added the immoral, antichristian New Age philosophies and teachings and witchcraft controlling the minds of many business leaders.

Other injustices inherent in the globalization of capitalism include:

- suppression of free speech and thought control that occurs because corporations can afford to purchase air time allowing corporate interests to control communications channels.
- Tax breaks for the rich: corporate advertising is tax deductible while individual messages aren't.
- Corporations can leverage wealth in order to influence government, media, education and popular culture while private individuals typically can't afford to.
- Corporate employees maintain free speech rights as long as their words support the views and goals of their employer.

A final injustice inherent in the capitalistic system is that it's structured to favor owner's and investors more than the people that actually design and manufacture the product. The capitalist system rewards intellectual talent more than gifted craftsmanship. CEO pay is now found to be hundreds of times more than the pay of those involved in product manufacturing.

Capitalism also offers unequal opportunity because a person with more wealth is able to get off to a faster start in the race for capital than a person of lesser means. It's easier for those with more to enter colleges that will give them more opportunity in the future. Also, while those with less are busy digging out from beneath college debt years after graduation, those with more have already hit the ground running without college debt. This head start affords those with more name brand colleges and other outward trappings that earn future acceptance among the higher classes. These connections within the system provide access to unique network opportunities, elite secrets, know-how and favors.

The ability to leverage debt is rewarded by the capitalistic system. With their fast start, those who began the race for more one up on their neighbor are able to borrow sooner in order to invest within the system. The more a person can invest within the system, the more the system can potentially earn on their behalf. As the young elite prospers, tax breaks favoring the rich help them pump even more profit into further profit ventures. Elites can shelter money from taxes in foundations and trusts allowing them more capital to leverage. A person born with these economic advantages isn't to be blamed for the inherent injustices of the capitalist system, however. Both the privileged and under-privileged have the same personal, moral, ethical decision to make:

will I not only be in the system, but also be of the system...will I serve Satan, the prince of this world and the god mammon?

will I follow the Lord Jesus Christ and be in the system, but suffer within the system because I'm not of the system? (John 17:13-20)

In the midst of the unjust, corrupt ephah or global capitalist system, however, God's moral law remains fixed over the head of the immoral, greedy capitalist: "love thy neighbor as thyself".

The apostle Paul expressed the equal concern people should have for others in everything they do this way:

"Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others." (Philippians 2:3-4)

Clearly, the capitalist can't serve both God and money. He is a debtor to maximize business profit and is bound to owners and investors to play the game by their ungodly rules for gain.

America's central role in the New World Order

Is the testimony of an "economic hit men" or "Chief Economist" like John Perkins who testifies to working with a secret group like the NSA in order to build a global American Empire valid? Does America play a central role in globalizing capitalism?

First, consider that the leadership role of the U.S. and the power of perception of the future global economic system she's spreading is symbolized on the U.S. one dollar bill. This symbolism is found in the "all seeing eye" which is depicted in the unfinished pyramid on the reverse side of the Great Seal.

In 1935 this Masonic symbol of the eye in the pyramid was officially added to the U.S. dollar bill as ordered by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Henry A. Wallace, a socialist and occult Theosophist, was President Roosevelt's Secretary of Agriculture and a Vice-President under Roosevelt. Wallace explains:

"Roosevelt as he looked at the colored reproduction of the Seal was first struck with the representation of the 'All Seeing Eye,' a Masonic representation of The Great Architect of the Universe.... Roosevelt like myself was a 32nd degree Mason. He suggested that the Seal be put on the dollar bill."

33rd degree Freemason philosophical leader Manly Hall explains that "On the reverse of our nation's Great Seal is an unfinished pyramid to represent human society itself, imperfect and incomplete. Above floats the symbol of the esoteric orders, the radiant triangle with it's all seeing eye." (The Secret Destiny of America, Manly Hall, copyright 1944,1972. Pg. 174)

"The pyramid is the Universal House, and above it's unfinished apex is the radiant emblem of the Great Architect of the Universe." (The Secret Destiny of America, Manly Hall, copyright 1944,1972. Pg. 179)

In his January 6, 1941 speech to a Joint Session of Congress, President Roosevelt said,

"Since the beginning of our American history we have been engaged in change— in a perpetual peaceful revolution – a revolution which goes on steadily, quietly adjusting itself to changing conditions.... The 'World Order' which we seek is the co-operation of free countries, working together in a friendly, civilized society.... Freedom means the supremacy of human rights everywhere."

The U.S. role within the New World Order is referred to on the Great Seal found on our dollar bill in the words, "Novus Ordo Seclorum", meaning New Order of the Ages.

Also, a final piece of evidence printed on the U.S. dollar bill points to the operation of secret societies in establishing the U.S. as the mysterious Babylon the Great of Revelation 17-18.

Main occult teachings are Trinitarian or grouped in threes.

The Babylonian numbering system was based on groups of six's, not groups of tens like the U.S. system. For example, the Babylonian 600 is the U.S.1000; their 60 is the U.S. 100; and their 6 is the U.S.10.

Ordering the Roman numerals MDCCLXXVI found across the bottom of the pyramid in groups of threes, according to esoteric occult tradition; and assigning the numerical value corresponding to each Roman numeral reveals a Babylonian "Six hundred threescore and six" at the top and a U.S. "Six hundred threescore and six" across the bottom of the U. S. dollar bill.

Revelation 13:16-18 says "Six hundred threescore and six" is the number of a man, or the number of the beast which is one of the personal means of human ID that a person will be legally required to possess in order to be able to buy or sell in the kingdom of the 8th king, the beast 666. (Revelation 13:18) The other means of human ID in the global economic system will be the mark required in the right hand or forehead. (Revelation 13:16-17)

The leadership role of the U.S. and the power of perception of the future global economic system she's spreading was also shown on a now defunct or hidden symbol representing the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA).

In November 0f 2002, the logo pictured below was found on the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA) website. Notice the use of the unfinished pyramid and the "all seeing eye" coupled with the latin words, Scientia Est Potentia which mean "knowledge is power".

The logo's phrase, "knowledge is power", when understood in the context of DARPA's Human ID projects, means increased electronic global surveillance of human activity.

The Office of Information Awareness (IAO) surfaced in the months following 9/11 as an intelligence arm of the U.S. government.

Both the logo and the IAO have since disappeared from the scene due to issues raised concerning the purpose of the DARPA IAO office in light of the logo. One of the purposes of DARPA IAO was captured in a DARPA IAO office web posting dated 6/20/03.

The 6/20/03 posting below reveals that one of the goals of the office is to develop a HumanID which will automate biometric identification technologies to detect, recognize and identify humans at great distances.

“The goal of the Human Identification at a Distance (HumanID) program is to develop automated biometric identification technologies to detect, recognize and identify humans at great distances. These technologies will provide critical early warning support for force protection and homeland defense against terrorist, criminal, and other human-based threats, and will prevent or decrease the success rate of such attacks against DoD operational facilities and installations. Methods for fusing biometric technologies into advanced human identification systems will be developed to enable faster, more accurate and unconstrained identification of humans at significant standoff distances. “

At DARPATech 2005, Dr. Stephen Pappert, Program Manager of the Microsystems Technology Office of DARPA presented the paper entitled, “The RF Frontier and Beyond’. In this paper, available for download darpa.mil/darpatech2005/presentation/mto/pappert.pdf, Dr. Pappert explains that the Microsystems Technology Office seeks to use RF systems with increased bandwidth and dynamic range in order to “detect anything, from anywhere, at anytime“. He states that photonic crystal technology is being developed and when this technology is coupled with other technologies, it will enable future systems to see through walls and broadcast over a million high definition television channels globally.

On 4/25/2006 GOVEXEC.COM posted an article by Jonathan Marino revealing that Jim Williams, the director of the US VISIT program within the Department of Homeland Security (DHS), told attendees of the National Business Travel Association annual meeting that he wants to work with several other DHS agencies to develop a “global ID management system”. Williams pointed out to the crowd that a global identification system would streamline transaction time, reduce fees, and help reduce illegal immigration and terror threats.

These examples reveal how the U.S. government is working within the guise of the war on terror to not only preserve, but expand it’s resemblance; it’s presence with it’s associated eyes and their power of perception through global electronic human surveillance.

The next chapter will give further evidence of the central role of the U.S. in the establishment of a New World Order which will be united by the finalized state of global capitalism; the global ID mark system of Revelation 13:16-18.

Chapter 3

The Lead Talent Cast Upon the Mouth of the Woman: U.S. Leadership Role in Promoting the Globalization of Capitalism and the New World Order

And, behold, there was lifted up a talent of lead: and this is a woman that sitteth in the midst of the ephah. And he said, This is wickedness. And he cast it into the midst of the ephah; and he cast the weight of lead upon the mouth thereof. (Zechariah 5:7-8)

America's New World Order Leadership

For decades, American political leadership has been calling for a New World Order led by the United States.

In his book One World, Wendall L. Willkie; Republican candidate for President of the United States in 1940, wrote:

“America must choose one of three courses after this war (WWII): narrow nationalism, which inevitably means the ultimate loss of our own liberty; international imperialism; which means the sacrifice of some other nations liberty; or the creation of a world in which there shall be an equality of opportunity for every race and every nation.” ...“To make this choice effective, we must win not only the war, but also the peace, and we must start winning it now.”

“To win this peace...the world must be free, politically and economically, for nations and for men, that peace may exist in it; third, America must play an active, constructive role in freeing it and keeping its peace.”

“When I say that peace must be planned on a world basis, I mean quite literally that it must embrace the earth.”

“Economic freedom is as important as political freedom. Not only must people have access to what other peoples produce, but their products must in turn have some chance of reaching men all over the world. There will be no peace, there will be no real development, there will be no economic stability, unless we find the method by which we can begin to break down the unnecessary trade barriers hampering the flow of goods. Obviously the sudden and uncompromising abolition of tariffs after the war could only result in disaster. But obviously, also, one of the freedoms we are fighting for is the freedom to trade.”...

“...even our present standard of living in America cannot be maintained unless the exchange of goods flows more freely over the whole world.”

(One World: Copyright 1943, by Wendall L. Willkie. Published by Simon & Schuster, Inc., pp. 142-148)

Another major New World Order advocate was the former Governor of the State of New York and 41st Vice-President of the U.S; a Baptist named Nelson A. Rockefeller.

“Rocky” said in his 1962 Godkin Lectures at Harvard University:

“It is a tragic fact that the free world today offers no secure structure of international order...” (Nelson A. Rockefeller, The Future of Federalism, Atheneum, New York, 1963. Copyright 1962 by The President and Fellows of Harvard College. P.67)

“In Europe, the Common Market has been a concept fostered and propagated by the U.S. for more than a decade. Now that it is here and prospering, we must define our relation to the old world in view of this new economic power.”...“Our fragmentary approach has not given free-enterprise capitalism a chance to serve the needs of the people of the free world as it has in the U.S.”...Yet for the industrial nations of the free world to share in the benefits of this system in any meaningful sense requires, above all, an international climate of political stability. “ (Nelson A. Rockefeller, The Future of Federalism, Atheneum, New York, 1963. Copyright 1962 by The President and Fellows of Harvard College. P.71-72)

“The need, therefore, is urgent to harness the unparalleled resources of free enterprise to the task of meeting human needs and aspirations throughout the free world. “ ...“For we must remember that in this country there is a free enterprise of philanthropy and voluntary service as well as a free enterprise based on profit and loss. All these, then, are some of the reasons-economic, military, political-pressing us to lead vigorously toward the building of a new world order. And it urgently requires, I believe, that the United States take the leadership among all free peoples to make the underlying concepts and aspirations of national sovereignty truly meaningful through the federal approach. (Nelson A. Rockefeller, The Future of Federalism, Atheneum, New York, 1963. Copyright 1962 by The President and Fellows of Harvard College. P.73-74)

“Just as the operation of our own national economy and social life is interdependent with a federal system of government, assuring freedom and order, so just as dramatically do the economic and social workings of a free economy in the world require movement toward a federal idea, bringing order to the chaos of nation-states.” ...“Just as the American federal system invites the larger and smaller states to take the lead in showing the nation new political paths, so should this nation as a whole, along with the more powerful free nations, assume a similar role of leadership in the world at large. “ (Nelson A. Rockefeller, The Future of Federalism, Atheneum, New York, 1963. Copyright 1962 by The President and Fellows of Harvard College. P.78-79)

Nelson Rockefeller’s Baptist grandfather was a tithing, philanthropic, greedy tyrant named John D. Rockefeller I. John’s Standard Oil Trust monopoly was a virtual prelude to America’s shadow government; America’s first great corporation. It marked the beginning of America’s global economic supremacy, and her accompanying soul surrender to capitalism. The “all seeing eye” of this monopoly was built through genius, single-minded diligence, thrift, tracking competitors, extortion, bribery, price cutting, legal deception, secrecy, aggressive marketing, propaganda, government diplomacy and military threat. The Standard Trust was dissolved into 39 different companies by a 1911 U.S. Supreme Court ruling. The decision was based upon the Trust’s danger to the citizens of the American Republic as a monopolistic conspiracy with its “intent and purpose to exclude others”. (The Rockefellers, An American Dynasty. Copyright 1976 by Peter Collier and David Horowitz. P. 59)

In light of the crimes of Rockefeller and his organization, Henry Demarest Lloyd wrote in Wealth Against Commonwealth in 1894:

"If our civilization be destroyed, it will not be from barbarians from below. Our barbarians come from above. Our great money makers have sprung up in one generation into seats of power kings do not know. ...these men ... claim a power without control, exercised through forms which make it anonymous and perpetual. ... They are gluttons of luxury and power...believing that mankind must be kept terrorized. Of gods, friends, learnings, of the uncomprehended civilization they overrun, they ask but one question: How much?" (The Rockefellers, An American Dynasty. Copyright 1976 by Peter Collier and David Horowitz. Pg's 43-44)

In light of the Standard Oil monopoly, John Moody defined trusts in his 1904 book , The Truth About Trusts, as follows:

"an intricate network of large and small groups of capitalists, many allied to one another by ties of more or less importance, but all being appendages to or parts of the greater groups, which are themselves dependent on and allied with two mammoth or Rockefeller and Morgan groups. These two mammoth groups jointly ... constitute the heart of business and commercial life of the nation, the others all being arteries which permeate in a thousand ways our whole national life, making their influence felt in every home and hamlet, yet all connected with and dependent on this great central source, the influence and policy which dominates all. " (The Rockefellers, An American Dynasty. Copyright 1976 by Peter Collier and David Horowitz. Pg's 44-45)

Former U.S. President Harry S. Truman reminded Americans over 40 years ago that "the United Nations was established largely through the initiative and support of the United States and has it's home here." (Harry S. Truman, Mr. Citizen, Popular Library, New York, copyright 1960. P. 209) It was Nelson Rockefeller who had been instrumental in persuading the United Nations to locate permanently in New York City. His father, John D. Jr., donated the entire multi-million dollar sum needed to purchase the 17 acre East River site called "X City". (The Rockefellers, An American Dynasty. Copyright 1976 by Peter Collier and David Horowitz. Pg's 246-247)

As early as 1964, Phyllis Schafly was warning Americans that the Secret Kingmakers such as Nelson Rockefeller and other prominent financial, political and press leaders were members of the DeBilderberg Group meeting secretly to chart the course of U.S. and world government. (Phyllis Schafly, A Choice Not An Echo, Pere Marquette Press, Copyright 1964)

Carroll Quigley, a professor of history at the Foreign Service School of Georgetown University, formerly taught at Princeton and at Harvard. He's a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Anthropological Association, and the American Economic Association, as well as various historical associations. Quigley has written:

"The powers of financial capitalism has another far reaching aim, nothing less than to create a world system of financial control in private hands able to dominate the political system of each country and the economy of the world as a whole.... " (Carroll Quigley, Tragedy and Hope: A History of the World in our Time, p.324)

David Rockefeller in his Memoirs, published in 2002, stated the following confirming his family's leading role in forming a one world order:

"For more than a century, ideological extremists at either end of the political spectrum have seized upon well-publicized incidents to attack the Rockefeller family for the inordinate influence they claim we wield over American political and economic institutions. Some even believe we are part of a secret cabal working against the best interests of the United States, characterizing my family and me as 'internationalists' and of conspiring with other around the world to build a more integrated global political and economic structure - one world, if you will. If that is the charge, I stand guilty, and I am proud of it."

How do these thoughts relate back to the prophecy of Zechariah 5?

Zechariah 5:7-8 says:

And, behold, there was lifted up a talent of lead: and this is a woman that sitteth in the midst of the ephah. And he said, This is wickedness. And he cast it into the midst of the ephah; and he cast the weight of lead upon the mouth thereof.

The word weight used in verse 8 is Strongs #68 is from the Hebrew root meaning to build. It's commonly translated stone in the Old Testament. If weight were intended to be interpreted literally it would depict a round lead stone. In a figurative sense, however, weight represents power, importance or influence.

Remember that Zechariah is receiving a vision of future things that he's never heard of or seen before. Often in receiving future visions, the recipient is shown things that the senses can't comprehend because they don't yet exist in literal form. Such future things would be totally unfamiliar to the prophet if they were described literally to him as they will exist in the future. As a result, the Holy Spirit communicates future visions using symbols and metaphors that are readily understood by the prophet in his time.

In addition, sometimes prophecies are given in figurative language so that their meaning remains hidden until it's time for the prophecy to be understood. John 2:19-22 is an illustration of this use.

The visions of the flying scroll and the ephah can't be fully understood until the actual things that the symbolic metaphors are intended to represent can be understood. Once they exist in the world, or their future existence can be foreseen based upon what currently exists, the stage is set for the interpretation and subsequent fulfillment of these visions. This would explain why older commentators interpret some prophecies differently than contemporary expositors. Older interpretations can be based upon literal interpretations of symbolic language because the interpretations were written at a time when there was nothing yet in existence or under development that would allow the symbolism to be properly understood. An example of this is the mark of the beast prophecy in Revelation 13:16-18. Prior to the electronic computer age and the development of the microchip implant, there really didn't exist a vehicle that would fulfill the prediction that a person would have to receive a mark in their right hand or forehead in order to buy and sell.

Zechariah 5:7 says the weight is of lead and that the talent of lead is a woman representing wickedness. The talent is made of lead which is a soft and easily fusible metal that emits unhealthy vapors when it's heated.

Interestingly, Revelation 17:2 states concerning Babylon the Great which mysteriously parallels 21st century America :

With whom the kings of the earth have committed fornication, and the inhabitants of the earth have been made drunk with the wine of her fornication. (Revelation 17:2)

The words "have been made drunk" (Strong's #3184) in Revelation 17:2 literally mean to get drunk. The prophet Jeremiah helps clarify the meaning of drunk here by proclaiming that Babylon's idolatrous practices spread throughout the entire world have made the nations mad.

Babylon hath been a golden cup in the LORD'S hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations have drunken of her wine; therefore the nations are mad. (Jeremiah 51:7)

Revelation 18:3 uses the word wrath (thumos) to describe "the wine of the wrath of her fornication" that all nations have drunk to the point of going morally insane.

For all nations have drunk of the wine of the wrath of her fornication, and the kings of the earth have committed fornication with her, and the merchants of the earth are waxed rich through the abundance of her delicacies. (Revelation 18:3)

Wrath (thumos) is used metaphorically here to speak of shedding blood or murdering profusely. Thumos refers to fierceness and indignant anger that boils up and quickly subsides. In the context of Revelation 18:3, thumos implies that the woman or the superpower uses her military and economic power in the role of global policeman. The wine of the wrath of her fornication, or America's heated anger which explodes with a vengeance upon non-integrating states forcing their cooperation in global free trade, parallels the definition of the lead talent that emits unhealthy vapors when it's heated. This illustrates how the statement made in Revelation 18:3, "the wine of the wrath of her fornication" amplifies the significance of the lead talent in Zechariah 5:7. As lead emits unhealthy vapors when it's heated, likewise America's wrath explodes in heated anger forcing uncooperative, non-integrating nations to support democratic free trade and the globalization of capitalism championed by the U.S.

Does America use violent military action in this manner? Certainly she does and it's amazing that this is precisely how Jeremiah described Babylon in Jeremiah 50:23 which reads:

How is the hammer of the whole earth cut asunder and broken! how is Babylon become a desolation among the nations!

Remember what Wendall L. Willkie wrote in One World:

There will be no peace, there will be no real development, there will be no economic stability, unless we find the method by which we can begin to break down the unnecessary trade barriers hampering the flow of goods. Obviously the sudden and uncompromising abolition of tariffs after the war could only result in disaster. But obviously, also, one of the freedoms we are fighting for is the freedom to trade.”...

America answered Willkie’s call to become the “hammer of the whole earth“; the economic power whose corporations would penetrate global markets in spreading capitalism and if necessary use her military power to forcefully break down unnecessary trade barriers hampering the flow of goods globally.

In acting as the “hammer of the whole earth” or “global policeman“, America is simply fulfilling her leadership role in establishing the New World Order as affirmed by President George W. Bush.

“We will actively work to bring the hope of democracy, development, free markets, and free trade to every corner of the world.”...“ The United States welcomes our responsibility to lead in this great mission.” (Excerpts from The National Security Strategy of the United States of America by President George W. Bush dated 9/17/2002.)

The New World Order, in an economic sense, is globalized capitalism. Globalized Capitalism is a world system of financial control that exists in private hands which is able to dominate the political system of each country and the economy of the world as a whole. This is the economic system that Carroll Quigley described and Nelson Rockefeller was advocating in 1962 in his lectures at Harvard.

“Hammer of the whole earth” or “global policeman” is also precisely the role that the neo-conservative presidential advisory group Project for a New American Century and President George W. Bush see the U.S. fulfilling. Here’s some excerpts from the Project for a New American Century and The National Security Strategy of the United States of America confirming this fact.

This report proceeds from the belief that America should seek to preserve and extend its position of global leadership by maintaining the preeminence of U.S. military forces. Today, the United States has an unprecedented strategic opportunity. It faces no immediate great-power challenge; it is blessed with wealthy, powerful and democratic allies in every part of the world; it is in the midst of the longest economic expansion in its history; and its political and economic principles are almost universally embraced. At no time in history has the international security order been as conducive to American interests and ideals. The challenge for the coming century is to preserve and enhance this “American peace.” Yet unless the United States maintains sufficient military strength, this opportunity will be lost. And in fact, over the past decade, the failure to establish a security strategy responsive to new realities and to provide adequate resources for the full range of missions needed to exercise U.S. global leadership has placed the American peace at growing risk. America’s global leadership, and its role as the guarantor of the current great-power peace, relies upon the safety of the American homeland; the preservation of a favorable balance of power in Europe, the Middle East and surrounding energy producing region, and East Asia; and the general stability of the international system of nation-states relative to terrorists, organized crime, and other “non-state actors.” (Source: THE PROJECT FOR THE NEW AMERICAN CENTURY: Donald Kagan Gary Schmitt Project Co-Chairmen & Thomas Donnelly Principal Author)

“INCREASE DEFENSE SPENDING gradually to a minimum level of 3.5 to 3.8 percent of gross domestic product, adding $15 billion to $20 billion to total defense spending annually. Fulfilling these requirements is essential if America is to retain its militarily dominant status for the coming decades. Conversely, the failure to meet any of these needs must result in some form of strategic retreat. The true cost of not meeting our defense requirements will be a lessened capacity for American global leadership and, ultimately, the loss of a global security order that is uniquely friendly to American principles and prosperity. After the victories of the past century – two world wars, the Cold War and most recently the Gulf War – the United States finds itself as the uniquely powerful leader of a coalition of free and prosperous states that faces no immediate great-power challenge. The American peace has proven itself peaceful, stable and durable. It has, over the past decade, provided the geopolitical framework for widespread economic growth and the spread of American principles of liberty and democracy. Yet no moment in international politics can be frozen in time; even a global Pax Americana will not preserve itself.” (Source: THE PROJECT FOR THE NEW AMERICAN CENTURY: Donald Kagan Gary Schmitt Project Co-Chairmen & Thomas Donnelly Principal Author)

“The concept of “free trade” arose as a moral principle even before it became a pillar of economics. If you can make something that others value, you should be able to sell it to them. If others make something that you value, you should be able to buy it. This is real freedom, the freedom for a person—or a nation—to make a living. To promote free trade, the United States has developed a comprehensive strategy:...”

Trade and investment are the real engines of economic growth. Even if government aid increases, most money for development must come from trade, domestic capital, and foreign investment. An effective strategy must try to expand these flows as well. Free markets and free trade are key priorities of our national security strategy.”

(U.S. President G.W. Bush 9/17/2004 published excerpts from “The National Security Strategy of the United States of America September 2002”)

“The unparalleled strength of the United States armed forces, and their forward presence, have maintained the peace in some of the world’s most strategically vital regions. However, the threats and enemies we must confront have changed, and so must our forces. ...The presence of American forces overseas is one of the most profound symbols of the U.S. commitments to allies and friends. Through our willingness to use force in our own defense and in defense of others, the United States demonstrates its resolve to maintain a balance of power that favors freedom. To contend with uncertainty and to meet the many security challenges we face, the United States will require bases and stations within and beyond Western Europe and Northeast Asia, as well as temporary access arrangements for the long-distance deployment of U.S. forces.” (President G.W. Bush 9/17/2002 from “The National Security Strategy of the United States of America September 2002”)

Thomas Barnett (U.S. Naval War College & member of the Project for a New American Century)

Thomas Barnett (U.S. Naval War College and member of the Project for a New American Century) argued that the dangers against which U.S. forces must be arrayed derive precisely from countries and region that are "disconnected" from the prevailing trends of economic globalization.

"If we map out U.S. military responses since the end of the Cold War, we find an overwhelming concentration of activity in the regions of the world that are excluded from globalizations growing Core -- namely the Caribbean Rim, virtually all of Africa, the Balkans, the Caucasus, Central Asia, the Middle East and Southwest Asia, and much of Southeast Asia,"

"A country's potential to warrant a U.S. military response is inversely related to its globalization connectivity." ("The Pentagon's New Map", by Thomas P. M. Barnett, U.S. Naval War College, Esquire Magazine, March 2003, p. 174-79, 227-9.)

The challenge in fighting terrorist networks is both to "get them where they live" in the arc of instability and prevent them from spreading their influence into what Barnett calls "seam states" located between the Gap and the Core. Such seam states, he says, include Mexico, Brazil, South Africa, Morocco, Algeria, Greece, Turkey, Pakistan, Thailand, Malaysia, the Philippines and Indonesia. Those nations, the logic goes, should play critical roles, presumably including providing forward bases, for interventions into the Gap.

At the same time, if states "loosen their ties" to the global economy, "bloodshed will follow. If you are lucky", according to Barnett, "so will American troops".

On the eve of the war in Iraq, Barnett predicted that taking Baghdad would not be about settling old scores or enforcing disarmament of illegal weapons. Rather, he wrote it "will mark a historic tipping point -- the moment when Washington takes real ownership of strategic security in the age of globalization".

President George W. Bush's free trade initiative linked to Iraq invasion

Debka-net-weekly June 24, 2003, 12:17 AM (GMT+02:00) reported :

Washington took the opportunity of the World Economic Forum held this week in Jordan to administer another push to its free trade plan for the Middle East – the other half of its program of democratic reform.

US Trade representative Robert Zoellick acknowledged that President George W. Bush's free trade initiative was part of the concept behind the invasion of Iraq.

"...it is important to have a secure environment not only in military terms, but also to use that as a foundation for building opportunity that we hope brings empowerment to the region," said Zoellick.

Washington envisages free commerce with Arab nations within a decade linked to calls by Arabs themselves for internal reforms and greater political openness...

Paralleling this Debka Report is a lecture delivered on June 2, 2005, at Dr. Galya's International Relations Class at DePaul University, Chicago. It's a summary analysis of the U.S. involvement in the Middle East titled "The United States And Iraq" by Dr. Khoshaba Jasim found at www.aina.org. This site is called the Assyrian International News Agency.

Dr. Khoshaba Jasim is an Assyrian from Iraq. He immigrated to the U.S. in 1974. He has a Ph.D. in political science from Western Pacific University. In articulating the role of the Iraq War on Terror in America's globalization of capitalism, Dr. Khoshaba Jasim writes:

(AINA) -- The importance of Middle East to the United States rose significantly in 1980 after the Oil embargo of 1973. The then ensuing events, rise of fundamentalism, turmoil, and widespread kidnappings, urged United States strategists to reevaluate its foreign policy and to place Middle East under direct military control after Britain decided to leave the region.

To fill the vacuum, United States strategists also considered a number of policy alternatives such as the Persian Gulf, Suez Canal, and the Northern Tier states. The spot most acceptable to them was Oil rich Saudi Arabia, which is adjacent to the Persian Gulf and to the shipping lanes that are vital to United States commerce. The scenario displayed in the Region and executed in the Gulf; i.e. the Desert Storm, was in fact launched to achieve such objectives that were beyond the liberation of Kuwait. These objectives were:

- a military base in Gulf area
- a Central Command headquarters
- a long term responsibility of maintaining the status-quo in post cold-war era.

The relaxation of international relations in the wake of Soviet Union disintegration, the collapse of balance of power theory that overwhelmed the bipolar world, and the emergence of the New Order with a uni-polar system under the U. S., created a new version of relations characterized by the following:

Politically

- A new law-abiding international system.
- The return to the United Nations and regional organizations to thwart crisis, diffuse quarrels, and enforce peace.
- The use of coalitions to police the world when thwarting fails or does not work.

Economically

- Monopoly and control by the United States over world fortunes due to its huge economy and military strength.
- Equal treatment of all nations in a world of free and open markets.

In light of these developments, all countries have to share in the promotion of trade, remove barriers to world commerce, and encourage investments that lead to the preservation and continuation of global capitalism as well as the coordination of the interests of all nations in open markets without ideological competition or class struggle. The New World Order emerged as a new version of the traditional capitalist system but with a different agenda compatible with the interests of the United States. Desert Storm, therefore, was launched as a means to protect United States strategic interests in the Region under the pretext of liberating Kuwait as per United Nations Resolution 678.

In the aftermath of Desert Storm, three events transpired as follows:

- The Iraqi Army was expelled from Kuwait.
- Iraq was deprived of fatal weapons and its arsenal reduced, rendering it incapable of intimidating and threatening its neighbors.
- The United States signed a military treaty with Kuwait and assumed the position of Guardian of peace in the Middle East.

Prior to Desert Storm U. S. strategists considered two vital issues: how could the U.S. integrate the Middle East and especially the strategic Iraq within the global economy in New World Order, and by what means could the U.S. annex the Middle East and Iraq as integral parts of its global military strategy? The first issue, the integration of the region in global economy is accomplished in the course of democratizing the region as done in Afghanistan and Iraq and carrying out U.S. regional policy that seeks to:

- Keeping the sea lanes open for international trade.
- Maintaining the flow of oil at a reasonable price.
- Providing support for Israel and moderate Arab states.

The second issue, annexing Middle East and Iraq to U. S. global military strategy is achieved through the means pursued by the Administration to execute its global policy including the use of military power. So Desert Storm was neither an isolated event that did erupt randomly, nor a product of the hour. It was in fact a vital part of United States global defensive arrangements steadily elaborated to repel radical movements against the New World System. The following are some of U. S. goals in the Region.

- Stationing of US troops in Saudi Arabia and Kuwait.
- The installation of a Headquarters in Qatar for the Central Command.
- A long-term responsibility to maintain the status-quo in post cold-war and to control and administer the New World system.

United States objectives in the Middle East are basically the same as well as the strategy and it's vital interests depends on political and social developments outside its borders and in the rest of the World, that have direct impact on the living standards of the Americans. The United States; therefore, is:

- Preserving the status-quo or the world capitalist system.
- Opposing the ideas that are not responsive to the new global strategies.
- Using coalitions as resolved by the United Nations to quell aggression and promote peace and the new economic regime.

U.S. troops are still in Iraq, which is, just like other states in the region, included within United States global strategy under the Central Command. The other states involved are Egypt, Sudan, Ethiopia, Jordan, Israel, Iran, Afghanistan, Kuwait, Lebanon, Saudi Arabia, Kenya, Somalia, Yemen, and the Gulf states. United States uses its military to:

- Secures the flow of oil and other energy resources to U.S. and the other industrialized nations.
- Explores new markets for its products.

and in the course of executing it's new Global policy, it:

- Protects small nations against aggression
- Support peaceful missions delegated by the United Nations.
- Combats terrorism
- Destroys weapons of mass destruction
- Repels fundamentalism

With regard to Iraq, the United States aims were destroying weapons of mass destruction and forcing it to abide by International Law United Nations resolutions. The policy of Iraq under Saddam Hussein after the Gulf war was not satisfactory to the U.S, nor was it in conformity with the global economy. Notwithstanding, the United States pursued peaceful means to make Iraq comply with United Nations resolutions, including diplomacy, economic sanctions, political pressure, covert operations and finally, the last resort, military power. The immediate United States objectives in Iraq are:

- A democratic and secular regime to protect and defend individual freedoms and to guarantee the political rights of its nationalities mainly the Arabs, Kurds, Assyrians, and Turkomans. The United States is already extending help to the Iraqi people in this respect.
- A peace-loving Iraq clear of weapons of mass-destruction; nuclear, biological, and chemical.
- A viable economy that provides jobs and employment to Iraqi citizens.

U. S. strategic objectives in Iraq are:

- The annexation of Iraq to the global economy so U.S. can invest heavily in this oil-rich country.
- Including it under Central Command arrangements and promoting it as a vital political bastion of democracy in the region.

To attain these goals the United States deemed it necessary to be there and to link Iraq practically with other component of its Global strategy in the region and around the Globe. United States global military strategy involves Latin America, Balkan, Middle East, South East Asia, Central Asia region along the borders of Russia and China. The 21st Century has been designated as the United States century. Strategists in Washington have reviewed the whole United States global policy and especially the Middle East in the aftermath of the cold-war on the following assumptions:

- A democratic, capitalist Middle East.
- An overwhelming Global capitalist economy.
- The defeat of fundamentalism and terrorist movements.
- The expansion of the market system and World trade. All nations will participate on basis of mutual benefits.

Today it is Globalization all over and Iraq, a very rich country with oil, minerals, vast arable land, uranium, and other resources, is in the heart of it. The United States is digging there for a prolonged stay. The question is whether it will retreat or rebound and abandon its obligations. The case of Iraq is greater than we read in the media. Iraq is today a component of U. S. Global military strategy in the region under the Central Command. All the United States interests within the region shall be guaranteed to succeed and provided adequate protection. So the United States will stay the course alone or in a coalition. A United States retreat will cause its economy to shrink and bring down the living standards of the people. It is not possible under these circumstances to isolate itself within its borders. This is a retroactive step that hurts its economic and security interests that are associated with world trade. It is also not possible to abandon its achievements and its world status as the leader, consolidator, and advisor. The United States, therefore, has no intention at all to leave the region or abandon its global strategy especially in Iraq. President Bush declared that the United States would not abandon its obligation. The United States had already returned the sovereignty to Iraqi people on June 30, 2004. British Prime Minister Tony Blair also made it clear that the United States and Britain cannot tolerate the consequences of failure and they both will proceed to install a democratic regime in Iraq. For the first time in seventy years Iraq now has a representative and freely elected government.

United States foreign policy goals have yet a long way to go. U.S. will stay in the Region and Iraq, just like the other states, will convert to a rotating component of the United States global strategy. (© 2005, Assyrian International News Agency)

The mouth of the ephah

Returning back to the text of Zechariah 5:8, it is written that the weight of lead is cast upon the mouth of the ephah. Obviously an ephah can't have a literal mouth so we're dealing with figurative language in these verses. The fact that the weight of the lead is cast upon the mouth of the ephah confirms the idea that Zechariah 5:7-8 is portraying a gifted, powerful, influential, corrupt, violent, unethical, immoral role in the global economic system.

The word mouth is Strongs #6310, peh, meaning the instrument of speech. It's also defined as "a principal speaker, one which utters the common opinion" by Webster's 1828 American Dictionary of the English Language. In modern terms one might say "a primary spokesperson promoting global democracy and the globalization of capitalism".

In Zechariah 5:8, the mouth or instrument of speech for the ephah or global economic system receives the lead talent as it's cast or thrown. Within the realm of magic, spells are said to be cast or sent forth so that the effect of the spell is manifested. The choice of the word cast here may carry with it a spiritual connotation since the effect of the talent being cast on the mouth manifests itself in powerful communication abilities. As the lead talent, representing superior abilities is cast, it's fused with the mouth or instrument of speech. In other words, the mouth becomes a powerful, global communication channel for the ephah or global economic system.

Do the scriptures refer to a wicked, powerful, global communicator?

Yes! In prophesying concerning Antichrist the Beast 666; Daniel 7:8, 25 and Revelation 13:5 teach that Antichrist is given a mouth speaking great things and blasphemies in exercising an antichristian global dictatorship. (Revelation 13:7)

Revelation 13:11 tells us that the False Prophet working on behalf of Antichrist will speak like Satan and empower the likeness of Antichrist to speak. He will institute the global ID mark system of Revelation 13:16-18.

Daniel 7:25 teaches that Antichrist will change laws. The change of laws refers back to Zechariah 5:1-4 and the implementation of Antichrist's counterfeit Universal Law.

With this truth in mind, the meaning of Zechariah 5:1-8 can now be briefly summarized as follows:

- A counterfeit Universal Law will be established. Apostates who swear or pledge allegiance to it will eventually be destroyed. (Zechariah 5:1-4)
- The globalization of capitalism will be championed by its powerful, primary spokesperson, the United States of America. (Zechariah 5:5-8)

The following chapter will reveal the interpretation of Zechariah 5:9-11 and its relationship to the vision of the flying scroll in Zechariah 5:1-4.

Chapter 4

Two Women Bear the Ephah to Shinar: The U.S. & Her Shadow Government Birth Globalized Capitalism In Iraq

Then lifted I up mine eyes, and looked, and, behold, there came out two women, and the wind was in their wings; for they had wings like the wings of a stork: and they lifted up the ephah between the earth and the heaven.

Then said I to the angel that talked with me, Whither do these bear the ephah?

And he said unto me, To build it an house in the land of Shinar: and it shall be established, and set there upon her own base. (Zechariah 5:9-11)

Zechariah 5:9-10 describes in symbolic language the globalization of the unjust economic system of capitalism led by the United States of America.

In determining the meaning of this passage consider first that a stork is a migratory, mothering bird with a huge wingspan that facilitates rapid flight. The stork is representative of the woman or America giving birth and spreading the ephah or corrupt economic system across the globe.

The concept of mothering or birthing something other than human life is seen in Revelation 17:5. This verse describes Babylon the Great, America, as the Mother of Harlots and abominations of the earth. In other words, America is a great religious whore who's corrupting the globe through the idolatry and immorality associated with the economic system of capitalism she's reproducing or globalizing.

Zechariah 5:9 uses the word wind, Strongs #7307, to figuratively represent a spirit animated by discontent and violent anger.

The word wings in Zechariah 5:9 is Strongs #3671. It originates from the Hebrew root meaning to project laterally and literally refers to the edge or extremity of a bird or army. In scripture, it's used to describe the global spread of the work of both Christ and Antichrist. For example, in Malachi 4:2, the phrase "healing in his wings" is used to describe the positive benefits the Lord will bring to the world at his return. In Daniel 9:27, #3671 is translated "overspreading"; it describes the negative things that Antichrist's dictatorship will spread globally. In other words, the "wind was in these wings" in Zechariah 5:9 communicates what the two women with stork-like wings are spreading globally. Specifically, the phrase "the wind was in their wings" is referring to the covetous, greedy, angry spirit; the driving force behind America's rapid spread of the corrupt economic system of global capitalism represented by the ephah.

Two woman: America and her Shadow Government

Next, Zechariah 5:9 tells us that Zechariah saw the arrival of two woman. The fact that there are two woman implies that an image of the first woman is produced. Consider that a shadow is an obscure representation of something or someone. There is nothing in the biblical text that would exclude the possibility of the second woman from being a shadow of the first woman. In other words, the second woman could be a shadow government of the United States. It's these two woman that are responsible for the movement of the corrupt global economic described in Zechariah 5:9-11.

Migration to Iraq

Zechariah questioned the angel revealing this amazing vision: "Whither do these bear the ephah?"

In other words, Zechariah wondered where the two woman were moving the corrupt economic system. In other words, Zechariah asked: "where are America and her shadow government spreading capitalism". The answer the angel gave him is recorded in Zechariah 5:11 below.

"To build it an house in the land of Shinar: and it shall be established, and set there upon her own base".

A house for the ephah in Shinar

The word house used in Zechariah 5:11 is Strongs #1004, bayith. The word refers to an organized family of people belonging to the same household. In reference to government, it refers to a body united in legislative capacity. For example; house of representatives, or house of commons. The use of the word house indicates that the ephah is legally integrated into the lives of the people of Shinar. Shinar literally means the country of two rivers and is the ancient name for the territory later known as Babylonia or Chaldea. Today we call this territory Iraq.

The prophecy is communicating that through the cooperative effort of America and her shadow government, the corrupt global economic system would be moved to it's own base; it's resting place, or final location in Iraq. More specifically, I believe the message of Zechariah 5:11 is that the legal integration of global capitalism into Iraqi government policy will provide a foundation from which capitalism will serve as a global unifying force.

Shadow Government

Is there evidence today of an American shadow government that's working with America to establish a permanent station for a global system in Iraq?

Evidence of a U.S. shadow government has existed for decades.

The American public and professing church has been warned of this at least as far back as 1964 when David Wise and Thomas B. Ross released a 26 chapter national best-selling book entitled, The Invisible Government. It's content focused on invisible government functions of groups such as the National Security Agency (NSA), the 54/12, the C.I.A and many others within the U.S.

The same year Phyllis Schlafly's book, A Choice Not An Echo, was released. It revealed the undermining of American sovereignty by the secret DeBilderberg ("Bilderberg") group.

It seems that due to her unconditional patriotism and allegiance to a supposed righteousness inherent in the American government, an overwhelming vast majority of the American church has been ignoring decades of warnings that there exists an invisible, hidden, or shadow government controlling the visible U.S. government.

Here's a few excerpts from these voices:

- President Woodrow Wilson: "Some of the biggest men in the U.S., in the field of commerce and manufacture, are afraid of somebody, are afraid of something. They know there is a power somewhere so organized, so subtle, so watchful, so interlocked, so complete, so pervasive that they better not speak about it above their breath when they speak in condemnation of it." (Woodrow Wilson, The New Freedom, (New York: Doubleday, 1914) pp.13-14.)
- U.S. Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter: "The real rulers in Washington are invisible, and exercise power from behind the scenes." (James Perloff, The Shadows of Power: The Council on Foreign Relations and the American Decline (Appleton, WS:Western Islands, 1988) p.3)

To pastors and professing Christians who have been aware of the secretive, deceitful evils of the American government and have continued to affirm the U.S. as a good, Christian nation deserving of God's blessing, the word of the Lord warns you:

Woe unto them that draw iniquity with cords of vanity, and sin as it were with a cart rope: That say, Let him make speed, and hasten his work, that we may see it: and let the counsel of the Holy One of Israel draw nigh and come, that we may know it!

Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil; that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter!

Woe unto them that are wise in their own eyes, and prudent in their own sight! (Isaiah 5:18-21)

The 911 myth

Many scholars have scientific proof that “911” was an inside job produced by arms of America’s shadow government. (Please review the information and videos at the following link for supporting evidence:
<http://www.scholarsfor911truth.org>)

Will the same church that for decades has silently turned a blind eye to the reality of a secret U.S. shadow government continue to support the government’s deceitful, “official” “911” government story.

The “911” myth has been exposed as a fable devised by the American government. This government has hijacked the destructive events of 9/11/2001 in order to illegally usurp authority over the American Constitution and lay further groundwork required for the future totalitarian New World Order of Antichrist. The deceitful “war on terror” hypocritically denies American citizens their Constitutional rights while facilitating the globalization of capitalism into Iraq under the pretext of “911”.

Spiritually, the “911” fable is a potential source of controversy and division in the church, as myths and fables are when they are taught as truth. (1 Timothy 1:4, 4:7; 2 Timothy 4:4; Titus 1:14)

It’s time that professing Christians use discernment concerning the “911” story! The official government story should be tested and examined honestly by the church. (1 Thessalonians 5:21) There is no biblical basis for blind patriotism based upon ignorance and myth!

Hatred, animosity, lovelessness and discrimination directed by the church towards professing Christians rejecting the official “911” story and it’s accompanying “war on terror” needs to be repented of! For professing Christians, such behavior is beyond immature;, it’s immoral!

John 16:8 tells us that the Holy Spirit will reprove the world of sin. The word reprove means to bring to light, expose, find fault with and correct. The word is the word kosmos. Kosmos, Strongs #2889, is defined by Thayer is “an apt and harmonious arrangement or constitution, order, government“. In other words, the world is the antichristian world system: in postmodern terms the world is represented by the New World Order system led by the United States. Does God command his church to love the world? Absolutely not! 1 John 2:15 commands us not to love the kosmos.

James 4:4 tells us we become God's enemy by loving the world system! Why then, pastor, do you act as if a Christian should love the American system?

You preach salvation by grace through faith in Christ Jesus alone, but treat your brother like salvation is by faith in God and country. To those of you out there acting like this: the word of God says you are an enemy of God! This is proven in the way that you treat the friends of God that expose the lies and evil of the American system! You're proving by your silent, loving support of this evil world system, and your inability to accept and fervently love those that obey the preacher's call found in 2 Timothy 4:2 to reprove the evils of the world system, that you may not be a true child of God according to 1 John 2:15 and 1 John 3:14!

Your idea of not conforming to the world involves merely externals that are often the fruit of a deeper issue: an underlying love of the antichristian world system. There will be no "revival" of lukewarm hearts like yours until you renounce the whorish 501-c3 church fraud you selfishly benefit from and begin laying the axe to the root of the sin and evil in the church and world: the love of money and professing Christians being yoked together with the antichristian world system championed today by the great whore, the United States of America.

Quit clinging to America's "Christian Heritage" as an excuse for your lukewarm love of the world system. If America was God's chosen nation, the Bible would say so. As you should know, Israel is God's covenant nation, not the U.S.

If America was God's chosen nation, her early settlers wouldn't have morally stooped to selfish murder and war against Indians in stealing and defrauding Indians of their territory. Such "Dominionist" land grabbing wasn't the result of God's blessing; it was the fruit of prideful, loveless, covetousness.

If America was God's chosen nation; America's early economy wouldn't have been built upon abusively enslaving Indians and Blacks; or unfair treatment of manual laborers. The economic growth resulting from such loveless immorality wasn't a result of God's blessing; it was the fruit of selfish hatred and covetousness.

If America was God's chosen nation; and if all these things in the world that 1 John 2:15 commands us not to love that you love about America were truly God's blessings; the Rockefeller Dynasty wouldn't have had to hurt the multitudes that they have in the process of establishing capitalism as America's false religion.

The Pharisees clung proudly and patriotically to their Abrahamic heritage in justifying themselves. Likewise, you're using your Christian heritage to justify your love of this world and your indifference, anger and hatred towards those that expose the evils of the world system. You whores, you blind shepherds... God's Spirit is begging you to repent and come out of Babylon before you share in her judgment!

Does the antichristian world system include the United States? Please digest the truth that 1 John 5:19 makes clear: the whole world lieth in wickedness. Always has, always will; until Christ Jesus returns to destroy this present evil system and establish his righteous kingdom. It's rank blasphemy to think that the American New World Order system is good! Matthew 4:8 makes it clear that Satan offered Jesus all the kingdoms. Satan is called the god of this world, not the god of all nations except America. (2 Corinthians 4:4)

The church needs to be encouraged to begin exposing the official government story as a myth; rather than being used Satan to teach this fable as truth.

How many lives might have been saved if the church in Adolf Hitler's time had confronted the German Reichstag fire in Berlin with courageous discernment rather than the foolish patriotic emotions?

"Who will rise up for me against the evildoers? Or who will stand up for me against the workers of iniquity? (Psalm 94:17)

Globalization Of Capitalism Into Iraq

The globalization of capitalism into Iraq is accompanied by a trial run of mandatory biometric ID controls which the Iraqi people must adopt or die. This is clearly a dramatic, evolutionary step towards the final mark system of Revelation 13:16-18. The following report titled "Marine Corps deploys Fallujah biometric ID scheme" provides evidence of this test run. (Source: the register.com by John Lettice)
Published Thursday 9th December 2004 12:13 GMT

US forces in Iraq are attempting to tame Fallujah with biometric ID, according to an NBC news report broadcast last week. The returning population of up to 250,000, reporter Richard Engel said on Tom Brokaw's last Nightly News, is to be allowed back in gradually, a few thousand at a time. "They'll be finger printed, given a retina scan and then an ID card, which will only allow them to travel around their homes or to nearby aid centers, which are now being built. The Marines will be authorized to use deadly force against those breaking the rules."

In addition, the Alex Jones Show December 2, 2004 reported an interview with Tom Brokaw on this news:

Here is the transcript from the report...

Reporter: "So far the plan is for most of the city's 250,000 residents to return in stages and first only a few thousand will be let in. They'll be fingerprinted, given a retina scan and then an ID card, which will only allow them to travel around their homes or to nearby aid centers which are now being built. The Marines will be authorized to use deadly force against those breaking the rules....Tom?"

Brokaw: "Richard, what's the latest on the election?.... "

United States Embassy complex in Iraq

A visible piece of evidence for an image of America now exists in the recent establishment of the mysterious 104 acre United States Embassy complex in Iraq scheduled for completion by 6/2007. This complex is about the size of Vatican City. It's 6 times the size of the United Nations compound in New York City. It's over ten times larger than it's largest predecessor, the U.S. embassy in China.

Below are excerpts taken from the CRS Report for Congress, updated 4/11/2005, entitled the U.S. Embassy in Iraq by Susan B. Epstein, Specialist in Foreign Policy and Trade Foreign Affairs, Defense, and Trade Division. The following link to Wikipedia will also provide many references concerning this mysterious complex.

(http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Embassy_of_the_United_States_in_Baghdad)

Susan Epstein's report fuels the belief that the invasion and occupation of Iraq is a well planned and economically justified capital project with an unknown financial payback period of primary benefit to it's champions and their networks. They clearly indicate that U.S. plans are to reconstruct and restructure Iraq in the image of the U.S.; to serve the needs of the U.S. business and agricultural communities and the Iraqi people.

Susan B. Epstein states in her report:

The Bush Administration is in the process of establishing new embassy facilities in Baghdad and regional offices throughout Iraq. The President has requested more than $1.3 billion in the FY2005 supplemental request for the logistical, security and construction costs associated with the embassy. ...

As of June 28, 2004, sovereignty officially was transferred to the Iraqi interim government. At the same time, the lines of U.S. government authority in Iraq were transferred from the Department of Defense (DOD), the Coalition Provisional Authority (CPA), and Ambassador Bremer to the Department of State (DOS), the American Embassy in Baghdad, and newly confirmed Ambassador Negroponte. This report discusses reestablishing normal diplomatic ties with Iraq and setting up the new embassy facilities and regional teams. It will be updated as changes occur.

The U.S. Ambassador to Iraq has full authority for the American presence in Iraq with two exceptions: 1 — military and security matters which are under the authority of General

George Casey, the U.S. Commander of the Multinational Force-Iraq (MNF-I), and 2 — staff working for international organizations. In areas where diplomacy, military, and/or security activities overlap, the Ambassador and the U.S. commander continue cooperating to provide co-equal authority regarding what's best for America and its interests in Iraq...

Americans representing about 11 government agencies are providing the face of America in the embassy and regional offices in Iraq. The agencies include the Departments of State (DOS), Defense (DOD), Agriculture (USDA), Commerce (DoC), Homeland Security (DHS), Health and Human Services (HHS), Justice (DoJ), Labor (DoL), Transportation (DoT), Treasury, and the Agency for International Development (USAID). Agencies that did not recommend staff for an Iraq presence include Departments of Energy, the Interior, and Veterans Affairs, as well as NASA, Peace Corps, Secret Service, and Social Security.

On October 31, 2004, the United States and Iraqi Ministry of Foreign Affairs signed an agreement on diplomatic and consular property. Among other things, this agreement transferred to the United States title to a site for the new American Embassy compound and future consulate sites in Basra and Mosul. State's Overseas Buildings Operations (OBO) identified property for a New Embassy Compound (NEC) on a site adjacent to the Tigris River in the Green Zone. ...

Regional teams are located in Mosul, Kirkuk, Basrah, and Hillah; each consists of limited staff representing DOS, as well as other agencies and contractors in designated locations. Each regional team's mission is primarily advising and coordinating with local officials and interacting with citizens to better understand the attitudes of the Iraqi people toward America. Both in Baghdad and in the regional offices, American Foreign Service Officers will be conducting public diplomacy — promoting American values and policies in Iraq.

Beyond the official consulate posts in Iraq, the Department of State has Foreign Service Officers embedded in major U.S. military commands located outside of Baghdad. DOS and DOD civilian employees also are at these locations. ...

In addition, the following information is provided by the government site: Iraq.sambas.gov. It details various embassy offices and their purpose in establishing the U.S. image in Iraq. It confirms in greater detail that the invasion and occupation of Iraq was a well planned and economically justified capital project of primary benefit to America and her beneficiaries.

The Political-Military Affairs Section staff maintains official contact with Iraqi government departments, including the Ministry of Defense, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, the Prime Minister's Office and the Ministerial Committee for National Security. These contacts are used to advocate policy consistent with U.S. interests, assess the degree of support for U.S. policies, and maximize cooperation with the Iraqi government in areas of mutual concern.

The Political-Military Affairs Section's analytical reporting of Iraqi issues to the U.S. Department of State, along with its process of advocating U.S. positions to the Iraqi government, are integral elements in the formation and implementation of American foreign policy in and towards Iraq.

USAID Mission in Iraq

The United States Agency for International Development (USAID) is assisting Iraqis in reconstructing their country. In cooperation and coordination with the Iraqi Government, USAID works with the United Nations, World Bank, International Monetary Fund (IMF) Coalition country partners, nongovernmental organizations (NGOs), and many private sector partners.

The USAID Mission in Iraq carries out programs in education, health care, food security, infrastructure reconstruction, airport and seaport management, economic growth, community development, local governance, and transition initiatives.

The U.S. Commercial Service is proud to announce the launch of our new Commercial Service Baghdad office, designed to assist and facilitate U.S. business in Iraq. The Commercial Service has a network of export and industry specialists located in more than 100 U.S. cities and over 80 countries worldwide, including active commercial offices throughout the Middle East. This worldwide Commercial Service network is committed to working with U.S. companies to help Iraq reintegrate into the region and the world economy in order to achieve its economic potential and, in so doing, improve the life of ordinary Iraqis.

Over the next few weeks and months Commercial Service Baghdad will be gearing up to provide a range of business services to U.S. companies interested in the Iraqi market. As the new commercial team at the U.S. Embassy in Baghdad mobilizes resources to serve the U.S. business community, we recommend that interested U.S. companies refer to the U.S. Department of Commerce IIRTF website for extensive up-to-date information on commercial opportunities in the Iraq market.

Iraq's commercial potential is enormous. Beyond its well-known, substantial oil reserves, Iraq is a cradle of culture in the region with a highly literate and enterprising population. Surprising to many Americans, Iraq has had a highly developed agricultural sector and for generations has been a breadbasket in the Middle East. For many years Iraqi businessmen and engineers have been active and highly-respected throughout the region. Underlying economic conditions remain strong and are beginning to rebound in the current liberal economic environment. Iraq needs to import a wide range of products and services as it strives to recover and rebuild after nearly 20 years of economic stagnation. At the same time, U.S. firms should not ignore the commercial opportunities flowing from the multi-billion dollar international reconstruction effort. U.S. companies need to recognize the potential for economic renaissance in Iraq, and Commercial Service Baghdad is prepared to help U.S. businesses unlock that potential.

Office of Agricultural Affairs

The Office of Agricultural Affairs located in the U.S. Embassy in Baghdad, Iraq, is the overseas arm of the Foreign Agricultural Service (FAS) of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA). FAS works to improve foreign market access for U.S. products, build new markets, improve the competitive position of U.S. agriculture in the global marketplace, and provide food aid and technical assistance to foreign countries. The Office of Agricultural Affairs is part of the FAS global network of agricultural economists, marketing experts, negotiators, and other specialists stationed in more than 90 countries to support U.S. agricultural interests.

For more than 20 years, Iraq's agriculture and agribusiness effectively have been cut off from innovation. Iraq currently relies on imports to meet a large portion of its food and fiber needs. Iraq has the land, water, and human resources needed for a successful agricultural sector, and it has a long history as a commercial market.

Iraq Project and Contracting Office

The Iraq Project and Contracting Office (PCO), formerly called the Program Management Office, manages the $18.4 billion gift from the American people to the Iraqi people to support the reconstruction of Iraq's infrastructure. The office is responsible for all activities associated with program, project, asset, and financial management, and manages both construction and non-construction activities across six sectors:

- Electrical
- Public Works and Water
- Communications and Transportation
- Buildings, Education and Health Care
- Security and Justice
- Oil

Construction projects include the building and renovation of power and water systems, schools and hospitals, oil infrastructure, Iraq's fire, police and military services, and the modernization of communications systems, roads and airports. Non-construction activities include equipment supplies and training in all sectors.

Work is currently underway on hundreds of projects across Iraq, employing thousands of Iraqis and improving the quality of life for people in every region of the country.

Along similar lines, DEBKA-Net-Weekly 113 June 25, 2003 reported the following news:

“the Americans are secretly building two giant intelligence facilities in Iraq at a cost of some half a billion dollars, according to an exclusive report received from DEBKA-Net-Weekly's intelligence sources. US engineering and construction units are setting up what amounts to an “intelligence city” on a site north of the oil city of Mosul in Kurdistan and a second facility in Baghdad's Saadun district on the east bank of the Tigris. Our military experts infer from the vast dimensions of the two projects and their colossal expense that it is Washington's intention to retain a large US military presence in Iraq in the long term, for a decade at least. The new installations will greatly enhance America's military, intelligence and electronic command and control over Iraq and its neighbors, notably Iran and Syria. The Mosul facility will guard northern Iraq's oilfields and the pipelines carrying Iraqi gas and oil to Mediterranean terminals. Its instruments will reach into every corner of Iran and Syria, replacing America's electronic eyes and ears in southern Turkey. This facility will be activated a section at a time according to need. Upon completion at the end of 2005, it will employ an operating staff of around 4,000 American intelligence personnel and electronic engineers. DEBKA-Net-Weekly's Middle East sources report that the intelligence center going up near Mosul is causing much nervousness in Damascus and Tehran. Both governments understand that when the first sections are activated in three months time, not a single military or intelligence move of theirs will go unseen by America's electronic spies – and that goes for terrorist activity as well.”

Once again, these documents verify that the invasion and occupation of Iraq was a well planned capital project primarily benefiting America and her networks while simultaneously promoting the New World Order agenda. They clearly indicate that U.S. plans are to reconstruct and restructure Iraq in the image of the U.S.; to serve the needs of the U.S. business and agricultural communities and the Iraqi people.

Led by the United States and it's shadow government, the two women of Zechariah 5:9, the presence and powers of perception of global capitalism have moved into Iraq. It's in Iraq that globalized capitalism will be prosperously established in it's final form: the mark system of Revelation 13:16 under the dictatorship of Antichrist the Beast 666.

The chapter to follow will tie together the prophecies of the flying scroll and the ephah found in Zechariah 5. It will consider the implications of these visions on the future of the United States of America in light of the biblical prophecies concerning Babylon found in Jeremiah Chapters 50 and 51 and Revelation Chapters 13, 17, and 18.

Chapter 5

The Flying Scroll & The Ephah: The Universal Law of Antichrist the Beast 666

The 5th chapter of Zechariah includes the 6th and 7th visions received and recorded by Zechariah. The sequential visions appear to be received at the same time because the scriptures fail to indicate any gap in time between their receipt.

Zechariah 5:3-6 indicates that the two visions may be intertwined. Zechariah 5:5-6 explain that it's an ephah that goeth forth through all the earth. Zechariah 5:3 had previously stated that the curse goeth forth over the face of the whole earth. Both the ephah and the curse have a global impact. This fact supports the belief that the two visions are linked.

The time of the fulfillment of these visions is unspecified. Since the fulfillment of the prophecy includes global destruction, and many of Zechariah's prophecies were apocalyptic, there's no reason to believe that these two visions can't be related to that day when the Lord returns.

This chapter examines the relationship between the ephah; the unjust economic system of globalized capitalism, and the flying scroll; the globalized curse that comes upon all that embrace the counterfeit Universal Law promoted by the False Prophet on behalf of Antichrist the beast 666.

The chapter introduces a biblical based theory related to the fulfillment of biblical prophecy based upon a synthesis of Zechariah chapter 5; the prophecies related to the destruction of Babylon the Great, and the rise of Antichrist to global dictatorship. I'm calling this a biblical based theory because I'm speaking in my opinion as Paul did, for example, when he wrote 1 Corinthians 6:12 concerning a marital issue. I'm not asserting this biblical interpretation as dogmatic truth. I am, however, presenting it as a strong possibility based upon prayerful study of the scriptures and their relationship to America's activities leading the world toward the economic integration that will be required for Antichrist's New World Order. Driven by President Bush's immoral neo-conservative preemptive strike doctrine; U.S. military forces are demonstrating U.S. imperialistic global dominion by occupying the historically coveted Tigris-Euphrates river basin. From this strategic position, America's System Administrative police forces are positioned for full spectrum dominance purpose driven to force all national economies to integrate into a single, capitalistic, global economic system.

This theory reconciles existing division between prophecy students believing that literal Babylon in Iraq will be rebuilt as the capital of Antichrist's kingdom, and students believing that the United States is “Babylon the Great” which is suddenly destroyed in fulfillment of Revelation 17-18. It shows that both interpretations are correct. It teaches that Antichrist rises to global dictatorship as the 8th king in a reconstructed Iraq immediately following his deadly wound as the 7th king. His deadly wound is America the Babylon’s sudden destruction in fulfillment of Revelation 13:3 and 17-18.

Is this theory far fetched?

Consider that Jim Garrison, founder and President of an offshoot of the Gorbachev Foundation/USA called The State of The World Forum, has written in America as Empire that the U.S. is a transitional empire that will become the final empire! (Garrison, Jim; America As Empire; Berrett-Koehler Publishers, Inc.; San Francisco, California; 2004; pg. 21)

This statement comes from a leader networked with insiders such as Mikha il Gorbachev, George Shultz, Maurice Strong, James Baker, Alan Cranston and a host of other co-chairs which connect with global leaders and thinkers through the World Forum to promote sustainable global civilization.

Final Global Economic System

What do the scriptures teach concerning the rise of a final global empire?

Revelation 17:3 and 17:9-13 show that the 7 heads of the beast represent 7 kings and their kingdoms. At the time John wrote this prophecy, the 7th and 8th kings were future kings.

The 7th king is described in Revelation 17:10 as “not yet come; and when he cometh, he must continue (meno-to remain) a short space (oligos-short time)”. In other words, the 7th king is a future king and or kingdom that will remain in power a relatively short time or a little while as oligos is translated in Mark 6:31.

Revelation 17:16-17 teach that at some point in time before Anti christ assumes the biblical role of leader of the 4th kingdom of Daniel Chapters 2 and 7 as the 8th king; 10 nations destroy Babylon the Great, the world’s reigning superpower at that time. (Revelation 17:18)

These 10 nations hate and suddenly destroy Babylon the Great in one hour, on one day, on behalf of the Lord. This destruction is a result of God’s vengeance upon Babylon the Great for her responsibility in the global execution of true believers in Jesus Christ according to Revelation 17:6; 18:24 and 19:2.

The little horn

Revelation 17:12, 16-17 and 18:8-10 reveal that the scarlet colored beast consisting of 10 kings or kingdoms is to be ruled by Antichrist.

Daniel 7:8, 20, and 24 speak of a “little” horn or an 11th king who rises to power after the 10 kings and their kingdoms already exist. Daniel 7:21-22 helps us identify this “little horn” as Antichrist. These verses teach that he wars with the saints until the Lord Jesus Christ returns to establish his kingdom. The description of the “little horn” warring with the saints in Daniel 7:21-22 parallels the description of Antichrist found in Revelation 13:4-7.

The Hebrew word translated little in Daniel 7:8 is Strongs #2192. It means little or small with regard to time or physical quantity. In relationship to time it would mean short in duration, younger, or the last. Revelation 17:10 also provides an indication that the 7th king will become Antichrist the 8th king of Revelation 17:11. This is because Revelation 17:10 describes the 7th king as one that would remain in power for a short duration of time as described by the greek word oligos.

The following correlating scriptures in the Old and New Testament support the belief that the little horn of Daniel is the 7th and 8th king, and the Antichrist of Revelation who remains in power a short duration of time; making war with the church as a global ruler with ten kings in his kingdom.

- Daniel 7:8 and Revelation 17:10: remains in power for a short duration of time
- Daniel 7:21-22 and Revelation 13:4-7: makes war with the saints
- Daniel 7:19-23 and Revelation 13:7: global rule
- Daniel 7:19-24 and Revelation 17:12-13: ten horns or ten kings in his kingdom

Babylon the Great: The 7th king

Revelation 17:12 and 17:16-18 reveal that the scarlet colored beast with 7 heads and 10 horns is a prelude to the 4th and final world kingdom of Daniel Chapters 2 and 7. Before Antichrist the beast 666 assumes power over the 10 horns as the 8th king (Revelation 17:11), the 10 horns of the scarlet beast are led by the woman, Babylon the Great. (Revelation 17:18)

As previously stated, Revelation 17:9-10 teach that the 7 heads are 7 kings and their global kingdoms. These verses explain that when John received this vision, 5 of these kings and their kingdoms were past history. One, the sixth king named Domitian, was on the scene at the time of the vision; about 96 A.D. Domitian was the last of the 12 Caesars who reigned over the Roman empire from 81-96

A.D. The 7th king and his kingdom were future.

Babylon the Great, that great city, which reigneth over the kings of the earth is the 7th kingdom. (Revelation 17:18)

How do we know that this verse is speaking about a future great city, nation-state or 7th kingdom; rather than Rome; the ruling nation-state at the time the vision was received?

Revelation 17:18 says:

“And the woman which thou sawest is that great city, which reigneth over the kings of the earth.”

The verb “is” used above in Greek is estin. Estin is a third person, present tense, active voice, indicative mood parsing of the root verb eimi meaning “to be”. In other words, the great city is reigning. Revelation 17:18 could be accurately paraphrased as follows:

“And the woman which thou sawest is that great city, which is reigning over the kings of the earth.”

For the following three reasons we can conclude that the vision is of a future superpower nation-state; not the 1st century Roman Empire.

- The whole vision is in the context of the future.

The angel is showing John a future vision. Verse 18 is part of that future vision. You have to violate grammatical rules and remove verse 18 from its future context in order to say that the verse is speaking about 1st century Rome at the present time of the vision.

- “Is” mean equals in Revelation 17:18.

After all, we can say “6 + 6 equals 12” or “6 + 6 is 12”. The Bauer-Arndt-Gingrich & Danker Greek Lexicon comments that one of the ways this word “is” is to be considered is explanatory, a representation or an equivalent of after verbs of asking, recognizing, knowing and not knowing. The verb sawest in Revelation 17:18 is a verb of knowing or recognizing. For this reason it’s proper to conclude that is (estin) means “equivalent of” or “equals” in Revelation 17:18.

- John’s told in Revelation 17:12-17 that the 10 horns (kings) haven’t yet received a kingdom.

If the woman was Rome of John’s day, the 10 horns (kings) would have been described as having already received kingdom authority. Instead they’re described in as 10 kings which have received no kingdom as yet. The 10 kings won't possess authority (exousia-delegated authority to manage domestic affairs over their jurisdictions) until the woman is destroyed. After that event, the 10 kings receive delegated ruling authority from the beast. Until that time, the woman reigneth over them.

How do we know that Babylon The Great, not 1st century Rome, is this 7th kingdom?

If there were 6 kings when John was writing and Babylon the Great reigns globally like Revelation 17:18 teaches; Babylon the Great logically becomes the 7th kingdom. This also makes Babylon the Great the 11th king or "little horn" of Daniel 7:8, 20, and 24. This is because Babylon the Great reigns over the 10 nations of the scarlet-colored beast. (Revelation 17:3,18)

Evidence that 21st century America is Babylon The Great, the 7th kingdom

We have already seen an enormous amount of supporting evidence in chapters 2-4 that the U.S. is Babylon the Great.

Revelation 17:18 uses the word reigneth to describe the global leadership of Babylon the Great. The greek words εχουσα (echo) and βασιλειαν (basileia) are translated into the English word reigneth. Echousa, from the root echo, means "to have or to hold something". In Revelation 17:18 that something is the word basileian. Basileian means to rule or have predominance over the kings of the earth.

An examination of the context of Revelation 17:18 reveals that Babylon the Great doesn't rule the world sovereignly. She sits upon the scarlet beast with 10 horns. (Revelation 17:3). Like America today, Babylon the Great leads the world by providing the military power required to increasingly integrate national economies and the people, products, goods, mass media, services and religion within them into the global economy.

What do the scriptures have to say about using military force in order to prosper economically?

Revelation 17:2 tells us that the inhabitants of the earth "have been made drunk" with the wine of Babylon the Great's fornication.

With whom the kings of the earth have committed fornication, and the inhabitants of the earth have been made drunk with the wine of her fornication.

The words "have been made drunk" (εμεθυσθησαν³¹⁸⁴) literally mean to get drunk. Revelation 18:3 uses the word wrath (thumos) to describe the wine of the wrath of her fornication that all nations have drunk.

For all nations have drunk of the wine of the wrath of her fornication, and the kings of the earth have committed fornication with her, and the merchants of the earth are waxed rich through the abundance of her delicacies. (Revelation 18:3)

Metaphorically, wrath or thumos speaks of shedding blood or murdering profusely. Thumos refers to fierceness and indignant anger that boils up and quickly subsides. In other words, Babylon the Great, like the U.S., is quick to use fierce military power to accomplish financial goals.

Is this true of the U.S. today? Certainly!...and in spite of the catch all capitalistic propaganda phrase that typically justifies our gunboat diplomacy: “we’re defending our freedom and interests abroad”.

Listen to the words of her 43rd President:

“The concept of “free trade” arose as a moral principle even before it became a pillar of economics. If you can make something that others value, you should be able to sell it to them. If others make something that you value, you should be able to buy it. This is real freedom, the freedom for a person—or a nation—to make a living. To promote free trade, the United States has developed a comprehensive strategy:...”

“The unparalleled strength of the United States armed forces, and their forward presence, have maintained the peace in some of the world’s most strategically vital regions. Through our willingness to use force in our own defense and in defense of others, the United States demonstrates its resolve to maintain a balance of power that favors freedom.

Trade and investment are the real engines of economic growth. Even if government aid increases, most money for development must come from trade, domestic capital, and foreign investment. An effective strategy must try to expand these flows as well. Free markets and free trade are key priorities of our national security strategy.”

(U.S. President G.W. Bush 9/17/2004 published excerpts from “The National Security Strategy of the United States of America September 2002”)

Fornication literally means to prostitute one’s body to the lust of another or to give one’s self to unlawful sexual intercourse. The type of language used in this context, however, isn’t literal. The language being used here is metaphor or implied comparison. A metaphor transfers or attaches the similar characteristics from one thing to another thing. We know that Babylon the Great isn’t literally a whore because Revelation 17:18 tells us she is a “great city” or superpower nation-state. Because metaphor is being used here, we know that the fornication being spoken of here isn’t literal sexual sin. In its historical context, Revelation 17:2 is metaphorically communicating that the woman or superpower has qualities similar to a female sexual prostitute or whore like the Mother of Harlots, the Babylonian goddess Ishtar. The superpower, along with the other nations of the world that do business with her for the purpose of getting rich, have prostituted themselves to the idol of mammon or wealth.

The metaphorical definition of fornication (porneuo) is to be given to worship idols or to permit one's self to be drawn away by another into idolatry. Idolatry (eidololatreia) is the worship of the image of false gods or the worship of mammon or wealth. Colossians 3:5 tells us that covetousness is idolatry.

Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry:

Covetousness (pleonexia) is the greedy desire to have more or to accumulate financial wealth. Jesus teaches to lay up treasure in heaven through giving rather than to accumulate wealth on earth.

Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal: But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal: For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also. The light of the body is the eye: if therefore thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be full of light. But if thine eye be evil, thy whole body shall be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is that darkness! No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon. But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you. Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof. (Matthew 6:19-24, 33-34)

Paul taught the same thing in 1 Timothy 6:17-19.

Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy; That they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate; Laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life.

Mother of Harlots

As Thomas P.M. Barnett, a Harvard Ph.D. in political science who has served as professor at the U.S. Naval War College and within the Office of the Secretary of Defense from 2001-2003 writes concerning the U.S. and her global role as the biblically prophetic "mother of harlots" of Revelation 17:5. The Mother of Harlots of Revelation 17:5, like the United States today, is the preeminent nation-state consisting of a population of mixed immigrants united in their nation's overriding purpose of using fierce military force in order to birth nations in its image which are also connected to the global economy:

"the UN does not wage war but only keeps the peace, it too defers to the Leviathan America as initial rule-set enforcer for the entire planet as a whole." ¹

"First and foremost, a country or region is functioning within globalization if it accepts the connectivity and can handle the content flows associated with integrating one's national economy to the global economy. Most societies welcome globalization's connectivity, when they are able to attract it. But not every society can handle the content flows that come with all that connectivity, meaning all the ideas, products, services, mass media, and so forth that flow into a country as a result.”¹²

“we are globalization’s godfather, it’s source code, it’s original model.”²

“As the world’s first multinational union, we are globalization’s wellspring, it’s inspiration.”³

“Americans often seem flabbergasted when those who oppose globalization around the world protest that it is “forced Americanization“. We shouldn’t be. Because we are furthest Along in this grand experiment we call the United States, ad because that model of mutually assured dependence characterized by minimal rule sets greatly predates globalization’s advance, we may well enjoy a lead in this historical process. But with that lead comes responsibility, for either we use our tremendous power as a nation to make globalization truly global, or we condemn some portion of humanity to outsider status that will naturally morph-through pain and time-into a definition of the enemy. And once we have named our enemies, we will invariably wage war, unleashing the death and destruction that come with it.

Remembering that disconnectedness itself is the ultimate enemy, America can, by extending globalization in a fair and just manner, not only defeat the threats it faces today but eliminate in advance entire generations of threat that our children and grandchildren would otherwise face.”⁵

“the Pentagon’s essential task is to export security into those national and regional deficit situations that currently hold up economic integration.”⁴

‘Knowing where globalization begins and ends essentially defines the U.S. military’s expeditionary theater. It tells us where we will go and why.”¹³

“Before I draw this map in full, I need to define what I mean by globalization’s spread. To do that, I must describe what I mean by globalization’s Functioning Core, or those regions that are progressively integrating their national economies into the world economy.”¹⁸

“I see the Pentagon today as both Leviathan to this world-historical process (my note: globalization), and as System Administrator. By Leviathan, I mean America provides the might that will eventually outlaw all mass violence in the Gap (my note added: nations and or individuals not yet integrated into the global economy), and by the System Administrator, I mean America must right every security deficit it seeks to fill throughout the Gap.”⁸

“The System Administrator force will be everything the Leviathan force is not. Where the Leviathan force projects power menacingly, the Sys Admin will export security non-threateningly.”... “The Leviathan force will destroy rogue regimes wielding immense lethality, but the Sys Admin will build nations wielding non-lethal technologies appropriate to the policing systems they will generate as legacies to the succeeding political order.”⁹

“If disconnectedness is the real enemy, then the combatants we target in this war are those who promote it, enforce it, and terrorize those who seek to overcome it by reaching out to the larger world. Our strategic goals, therefore, are to extend connectivity in every way possible, but only in a way that promotes justice as much as order.”¹¹

“But only if Americans remember that while typically this country follows the rules, sometimes history-1776, 1861,1945,1962, 2001-calls upon this nation to create new rules.

“Whether we realize it or not, we are all-right now-standing at the present at the creation of a new international security order. You might think that the global war on terror is nothing more than the twisted creation of a warmongering Bush Administration, but you could be wrong. The global conflict between the forces of connectedness and disconnectedness (note added: the opposite of functioning within globalization) is here and not going away anytime soon. Either America steps up to the challenge of defining this new global security rule set, or we will see those rules established by people who dream of a very different tomorrow.”¹⁰

“There are no bad people save those who would deny others connectivity, choice, and freedom.”¹⁴

“Theocracies have a dampening effect upon connectivity with the outside world, because -of course-the whole point of having religious leaders in power is to ensure the purity of faith within one’s borders. Achieving that typically requires strict control over what content enters the country, and what kind of linkages exist between the faithful and the unbelievers outside.”¹⁵

“States that tend to view women primarily as birthing machines are invariably more disconnected than those that let women enter the workplace, in large part because the economy is denied access to more than half it’s ability for exports of either goods or services.”¹⁶

“Increasingly, our military interventions will be judged by the connectivity they leave behind, not the smoking holes.”¹⁷

Like the United States of America, today, Babylon the Great doesn’t have absolute control over the kings of the earth. Revelation 17:7 teaches that the scarlet colored beast carrieth the woman. Babylon the Great is carried by the 10 horns or nations of the scarlet colored beast.

And the angel said unto me, Wherefore didst thou marvel? I will tell thee the mystery of the woman, and of the beast that carrieth her, which hath the seven heads and ten horns. (Revelation 17:7)

This word carrieth or βασταζοντος is in the genitive case signifying possession. It means to support, sustain, carry, uphold or bear what is burdensome. In other words, the relationship of the woman, Babylon the Great, to the scarlet colored beast is one of bittersweet bondage. The woman is in some form of bondage to the beast in spite of the fact that she is the world’s preeminent superpower nation-state.

Spiritual bondage

First, the woman in spiritual bondage to demonic forces. Revelation 18:2 teaches that the superpower lives under the attack of evil, demonic spiritual powers of wickedness. Her golden cup once filled with God’s blessings and opportunities is now overflowing with his curses and the evil fruit resulting from her covetousness and idolatry.

And he cried mightily with a strong voice, saying, Babylon the great is fallen, is fallen, and is become the habitation of devils, and the hold of every foul spirit, and a cage of every unclean and hateful bird. (Revelation 18:2)

Only a naïve, materialistic fool would debate the power of the American Woman’s colored lights to hypnotize and sparkle the eyes of the nations as she entrances them in her bewitching consumer culture’s tangled web of immoral, antichristian movies, TV shows, music, fashion, entertainment idols, philosophies and religions. American led globalization uses demonically empowered music and television to transform the values and behavior of the globalized community.

Financial bondage

Secondly, Babylon the Great is in financial bondage to the beast.

Proverbs 22:7 states an important principle concerning freedom from financial bondage:

“The rich ruleth over the poor, and the borrower is servant to the lender.”

In other words, when a person or nation is in debt to others, they're in bondage or under the possession, obligation and tie of duty to their lender until the debt is paid.

Is the U.S. in this position financially? Absolutely!

As a result of European banks gaining control of the finances of the U.S., the U.S. is indebted to foreign nations even though she has the world's largest economy.

Thomas P.M. Barnett writes that we are able to live beyond our means and live large because “selling our debt-both public and private-around the world has been easy.”⁶

Barnett also states that “America's essential transaction with the outside world is one of our exporting security in return for the world financing a lifestyle we could far more readily afford without all the defense spending.”⁷

So, we see that in one sense this bondage refers to the financial debt owed by the superpower to the scarlet colored beast. In another broader sense, carrieth indicates the spiritual bondage of the superpower to evil demonic powers.

Like the short reign of the 7th king, the reign of Babylon the Great is cut short when she is suddenly destroyed by the 10 nations of the scarlet beast. (Revelation 17:16) This occurs before the 8th king, the little horn Antichrist, is given authority over the 10 horns or nations which made up the 7th kingdom of Babylon the Great. (Revelation 17:17-18)

The 10 kings of the kingdom of the scarlet colored beast are assimilated into the kingdom of the 8th king, Antichrist, after they destroy Babylon the Great. After suddenly destroying Babylon the Great, these 10 nations, united in the purpose of serving under the governing authority of Antichrist the 8th king, offer themselves to be led by Antichrist in his 42 month reign of terror. (Revelation 17:16-17)

7th king becomes 8th king: little horn; Antichrist; Beast 666; King of Babylon

The scriptures don't exclude the possibility that the 8th king, Antichrist the beast 666, was once the 7th king; former king of Babylon the Great, the 7th kingdom.

The sudden destruction of Babylon the Great for its role in executing true believer's supports the belief that the 8th king, Antichrist the beast 666, was once the 7th king. This is because Antichrist makes war with the saints according to Daniel 7:21-22 and Revelation 13:4-7.

Remember, Revelation 17:11 tells us that the 8th king "is of the seven, and goeth into perdition." This would also explain why the scriptures represent Antichrist as the King of Babylon and the Assyrian. (Isaiah 10:5-19, 14:1-27, 31:1-9, Micah 5)

Isaiah 14:19-20 teaches that the king of Babylon escapes the destruction of his own homeland and its people. These verses are in the context of the that day when the house of Israel returns to their land and the Lord gives them rest from the oppression heaped upon them by Antichrist. (Isaiah 14:1-4)

Isaiah 14:20 explains that this king destroyed his own people and their homeland himself. In other words, the destruction of Babylon was an inside job which the king of Babylon survives. Revelation 13:3 tells us that one of the 7 kingdoms led by one of the seven heads (kings) of the beast is apparently destroyed by violence. This king, however, quickly reassumes power as this deadly wound is healed.

Isaiah 14:19 explains that unlike other kings who are honorably buried within their own nation, the dishonorable king of Babylon is unable to be buried in his homeland and was expelled from his grave like Antichrist the beast 666 of Revelation 17:8 who ascends out of the bottomless pit.

Could it be that the 10 kings of the scarlet beast conspire with the King of Babylon the Great to destroy his homeland in order that the King of Babylon might become the sovereign ruler of their kingdom as Revelation 17:12,13,16-17 teaches they will do?

In other words, will a group of 10 kings and the President of the United States plan the destruction of the United States in order that the President of the United States might become the sovereign, totalitarian head of the New World Order of Antichrist ruling from a new location?

Could that new location be in Iraq?

We have already seen in Chapter 4 evidence of the fulfillment of the biblical prophecies of Zechariah 5 which reveal that the U.S. is reconstructing Iraq in its image in order to establish it as the base for the final form of globalized capitalism: the 666 mark system prophesied in the 1st century divine prophetic writings recorded in Revelation 13:16-18. Thomas Barnett writes in The Pentagon's New Map, pg. 43, that we need a "Kissinger" of the early 1970's that we sent to Moscow and Beijing for the Middle East; "a visionary who understands that we've already reached the mountaintop." Is this a call for the Beast 666; Antichrist: the future King of Babylon?

Isaiah 14:17 teaches that the military of the King of Babylon is leveling cities around the globe and taking and holding prisoners on a permanent basis; possibly in the manner of the current neo-conservative, imperialistic reign of President Bush spreading democracy globally and detaining suspected enemies of his state without trial in secret prisons against both U.S. Supreme Court and International Law. (see link: <http://www.democracynow.org/article.pl?sid=06/09/07/1350230>)

Is this new "conspiracy theory" far fetched?

Consider the growing number of informed, thinking people who believe that the destruction of the WTC Towers, hijacked by the U.S. government to spawn war in the Middle East and a global war on terror and the Constitutional Rights of American citizens, was an inside job; a false flag operation on a smaller scale intended to integrate disconnected individuals and nations into the global economy. Warnings have been sounded of a future shocking event involving non-conventional weapons (WMD's).

501-C3 Pastors

To 501-c3 Pastors with Christian schools trusting political leaders of the American system enough to pledge allegiance to them and think I'm terrible for suggesting such a thing: please be reminded that your beloved American system is the world we aren't love as followers of Christ. This world excludes the Bible from the curriculum of its schools.

I remind you that professing Christian President George W. Bush declares war and legislates hundreds of laws through misuse of Unitary Executive power in signing statements;

(see links: http://www.boston.com/news/nation/articles/2006/04/30/examples_of_the_presidents_signing_statements/ and <http://www.bobbarr.org/default.asp?pt=newsdescr&RI=766>)

but fails to outlaw the murder of babies; and expresses hatred and indifference towards the spiritual needs of Christian young people daily through the failure to lift the ban on the teaching of biblical truth in U.S. government schools. (see link: http://www.chuckbaldwinlive.com/c2006/cbarchive_20060906.html and http://www.chuckbaldwinlive.com/c2006/cbarchive_20060825.html)

Pastor, doesn't your Christian School exist because of the ungodliness of American government and your love of teaching young people the truth? Or does the school exist because adding a school to your church is another way for you to increase your gross income. Which is it? If it's because of government hatred of the truth, why do you hate those that speak the truth in love against the American system and its leaders?

I don't think you believe that Jesus was being subversive and rebellious and providing the scribes and Pharisees cause to blaspheme God when he spoke the truth in love against the authorities of his day, do you?

Didn't Jesus criticize authorities for their manipulative, deceitful, prideful displays of religion for financial gain (Matthew 23:5, 14, 23-28); usurping of powerful positions of authoritative control over others (Matthew 23:6-11); merciless use of the law to enslave others to their religious system (Matthew 23:4-12); neglect of merciful, socio-economic justice because of their selfish focus on the strict maintenance and growth of their religious system benefiting their egos; careers, and finances (Matthew 23:23-30); value of outward appearance over inward righteousness for the purpose of financial gain (Matthew 23:25-28); deceitful manipulation of minds to justify mistreating God's people (Matthew 23:29-36); counter-productive evangelism in spreading anti-christian values (Matthew 23:13-22); and hypocrisy in acting in roles designed for God alone (Matthew 23:8-12)?

If Jesus is our example; if the Old Testament prophets all spoke truth in love against ungodly government and religious policy and practice; if John the Baptist was killed for political criticism in confronting Herod Antipas the Great's immoral affair with his sister-in-law Herodias (Matthew 14:1-12); if the martyrs of the early church were killed for their faithfulness to the authoritative truth of God's Word over and above the cultural authority of Rome; if the church in Thyatira was criticized by Jesus for tolerating the false prophetess Jezebel (Revelation 2:20); if those that understand the wickedness of Antichrist's practices will be affirmed by their God for their knowledgeable instruction of the uninformed and selfless moral exploits (Daniel 11:29-25); if Paul encouraged Christians to forsake the accepted socio-economic public policy and practice of slavery if they could (1 Corinthians 7:20-23); if the future martyrs of the tribulation period will be executed for their failure to align themselves and integrate into the core of the global economy; and faithfully witness for Jesus Christ while failing to support the public policy of those in authority (Revelation 13:16-18, 20:4; Luke 21:12-19); - why do you believe that Christians should never criticize, correct or seek to improve the moral principles and character of cultural authority today? If it's because of your desire for more money, woe unto you for using the truth for personal gain and hating those that love the truth, hate evil, and want to be a faithful light amidst cultural darkness. Come out of the great whore before you judged with the whore! (Revelation 18:4)

“go into perdition”

How does the 7th king of Revelation 17:10; the king of Babylon the Great, transition into becoming the 8th king of Revelation 17:11? Revelation 17:8 says that the beast, Antichrist, amazes the world when he ascends out of the bottomless pit and “goes into perdition“. Revelation 17:11 also describes the 8th king as one that “goeth into perdition.“ The meaning of the statement ““go into perdition” appears to be a clue to the link between the 7th and 8th kings. What is meant by the statement, the beast will “go into perdition”?

The word translated go in Revelation 17:8 is the greek infinitive hupago. The specific word used in Revelation 17:8 is upagein which is a verbal noun or infinitive. Upagein is a present tense, active voice, infinitive. In infinitives, the tense indicates the type, not the time of action. The present infinitive means that the action is ongoing or linear. It may occur in the past, present or future depending on the context. Here the context is a vision of the future. As a result, we can say that the vision concerns a change of condition that the beast will be undergoing. The verse says that the beast shall go into perdition meaning utter destruction or ruin. Does this utter destruction or ruin imply the final fate of the beast in the lake of fire? This would be a logical conclusion since Revelation 19:20 and 20:10 teach that this is his destiny.

To accurately answer the question of what does it mean that the beast will “go into perdition”, we must also consider Revelation 17:11 in which the beast is also said to “goeth into perdition“.

In Revelation 17:11, goeth is the greek present, active, indicative verb upagei in the 3rd person singular. The present tense indicates ongoing, repeated action on the part of the subject, the beast. If this verb was referring to the fact that the beast was destined to be destroyed in the lake of fire in the future, the verb used here wouldn't be present tense, but future tense. The indicative mode indicates that the change of condition that the beast was undergoing is now an actual fact. It isn't an unrealized, future condition. Thus, “goeth into perdition” indicates the transformation of one of the first 7 kings, apparently the 7th king, into the destructive 8th king after his deadly wound described in Revelation 13:3-4 and 13:11-14 is healed.

Recall that Revelation 17:8 states:

The beast that thou sawest was, and is not; and shall ascend out of the bottomless pit, and go into perdition: and they that dwell on the earth shall wonder, whose names were not written in the book of life from the foundation of the world, when they behold the beast that was, and is not, and yet is.

It seems that the transformation which will occur in the future 8th king is likely the result his coming under the total possession of the evil spirit or demon king named Apollyon (Greek) or Abaddon (Hebrew) meaning destroyer. Remember that Revelation 17:8 teaches that “the beast that thou sawest was, and is not; and shall ascend out of the bottomless pit, and go into perdition” or utter destruction.

This spirit king is named in Revelation 9:11 where it teaches that this king ascends; he rises or is born up out of the bottomless pit or abyss to possess this king.

This interpretation is consistent with an analysis of the revealing of antichrist described in 2 Thessalonians 2:3-8. A study of the birth and revealing of antichrist can be found at the link entitled, Antichrist the Beast 666 \(Chp. 4: The Restrainer and Antichrist's Revealing\).

There is a point in the antichrist's political career when his true political goals are revealed. Rising to power as a slippery, smooth political magician with the support of just a few allies, the future antichrist wages war he justifies in the name of peace through making flattering, deceitful promises of increased global security and economic growth to his believers. (Daniel 8:24-25, 11:21-24)

Daniel 7:20-24 teaches that early on, this great visionary leader humbles 3 of the 10 nations which eventually make up his 10 nation global empire; possibly in the manner in which President Bush is in the current process of bringing down Middle Eastern nations and integrating them under the umbrella of the United States. (see link: http://time.blogs.com/allen_report/2006/07/how_bush_plans_.html)

At approximately the midpoint of his career, however, the future Antichrist breaks the peace covenant he originally confirmed between Israel and the nations and goes into “perdition” or a destructive military campaign. (Daniel 9:26-27)

Having turned against God and his people, “he shall even return, and have intelligence with them that forsake the holy covenant”. This means that he distinguishes and marks or attends to people based upon their willingness to apostasize and forsake the holy covenant or the true God to unite with him. (Daniel 11:30) Antichrist's attitude will be an arrogant, “you are either with us or against us” like that of the terrifying President Bush in his “war on terror” and his intolerance towards any who voice disapproval of his arrogant disregard for the authority of the Constitution of the United States of America over his presidency.

Using fear tactics to change laws according to his will, President Bush has broken his oath of office to serve the people under our governing authority, the Constitution of the United States. As Antichrist will have no regard for the God or ruling authority of his fathers; President Bush has not regarded the Constitutional form of government which the forefathers of our land established to protect us from the tyranny of government. (Daniel 7:25;11:37)

Wake up ye blind shepherds and cowardly Christians. Speak up for righteousness sake Christians! President Bush isn't our governing authority, the Constitution under which he is to serve is! He has proven himself to be a deceitful traitor; a lying, covetous idolator; an antichrist who should be impeached. If he follows the Bible, it seems it's only to use it as a playbook in order to fulfill prophecy, counterfeit Christ and deceive the church. Yes, we obey the laws of the land unless they contradict biblical commands and principles; however, we can't follow the calling of George W. Bush and pledge allegiance to his immoral and unconstitutional war on terror and follow Jesus Christ! We can't obey Romans 13:1 by obeying President Bush when he folds up the umbrella of the Constitution and discards it even though he took office under oath to uphold it. His office is under the authority of the Constitution in this government that is supposed to be of the people, by the people, and for the people...not for President Bush and the neo-conservative, imperial ambitions.

This separation of those who will stand with Antichrist in apostasy or forsaking the holy covenant of the true God from those who refuse apostasy parallels the prophecy of Revelation 13:16-18 which states:

And he causeth all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and bond, to receive a mark in their right hand, or in their foreheads: And that no man might buy or sell, save he that had the mark, or the name of the beast, or the number of his name. Here is wisdom. Let him that hath understanding count the number of the beast: for it is the number of a man; and his number is Six hundred threescore and six.

This beast leader begins his victorious war against the saints before coming to power as the 8th king, the ruler of the 4th kingdom of Daniel 2 and 7. The saints are the true believers making up the body or church of the Lord Jesus Christ. (For a detailed study of this and it's relation to the Tribulation Period, please see the link:)The beast antichrist 666 rules as global dictator over 10 nations for 42 months or 3 ½ years. (Daniel 7:19-27; Revelation 11:2, 13:4-10)

Revelation 13:16-18 teaches that those refusing to worship the beast or his image, or receive his mark upon their forehead or in their right hand, are killed. Revelation 20:4 indicates that they're beheaded for their faithfulness to Jesus Christ. Only those that will receive the beast 666's mark as a stamp of servitude upon their right hand or in their forehead; or those that choose to use the name of the beast or his number 666, will be entitled to receive the economic benefits of participation in the global economy.

Thomas P.M. Barnett states on page 50 of The Pentagon's New Map, that "there are essentially two big questions for the future of globalization. The first question is, "What will constitute the great dividing line between who's in and out of globalization's Functioning Core?" The scriptures teach us that the great dividing line will be whether or not a nation or individual is willing to worship the beast 666, his image, and receive his mark in their right hand or forehead in order to be able to connect with the global economy and buy and sell. (Revelation 13:16-18, 20:4)

Having executed defiant Christians and destroying enemy nations through deceitful promises of peace and security, he unites his apostate military against Israel and surrounds Jerusalem with his forces as prophesied in Daniel 11:31.

He profanes the temple of God by stopping the daily sacrifice for sin. He then proceeds in accordance with 2 Thessalonians 2:3-4 to sit down in the temple in Jerusalem and proclaim to the world that he is God.

Antichrist's Gentile armed forces bring wrath upon apostate Israel for 42 months according to Revelation 11:2.

Many will be killed and survivors will be taken away as hostages as Jerusalem is devastated by antichrist's forces until the Lord Jesus Christ returns in glory to destroy antichrist and his allied forces. (Luke 21:21-24) It isn't until that day when the Lord Jesus Christ returns that the "times of the Gentiles will be fulfilled" and both families making up the Israel of God; the commonwealth of Israel; all Israel, shall be saved. (Luke 21:24; Romans 11:25-27; Galatians 6:14-16; Ephesians 2:12)

The chapter to follow will examine the leadership role of the U.S. in developing an interoperable global system of identification that could be used as a means of enforcing the Universal Law of Antichrist the beast 666.

Chapter 6

U.S. Leadership Role In Developing the Interoperable Global System To Enforce the Universal Law of Antichrist

The Vision of the Little Horn

The scripture prophecies that the final form of government will have the following characteristics:

- Global
- Dictatorial
- Bureaucratic
- Militaristic

For a detailed analysis of Antichrist's government please see the article at the link:

Antichrist the Beast 666 \(Chp. 2: General Identity and Mark of the Beast 666\)

Daniel 7:8 tells us that the little horn, Antichrist and his kingdom, will have eyes like the eyes of a man. Zechariah 5:6 teaches that the ephah, the unjust economic system of global financial capitalism, is their resemblance through all the earth. The word resemblance is translated from Strong's #5869 corresponding to the word eyes (Strong's #5870) used in Daniel 7:8. Both these words, resemblance and eyes, refer figuratively to powers of perception and presence in the world.

Daniel 7:20 explains that the little horn's look; his vision or sight is more stout, or greater than his political associates. If we are as close to the imminent return of the Lord as the pre-tribulation rapture false prophets have been telling us for over 100 years, there should be a nation among us today which has greater sight than its political associates, right? The only existing nation that fits her iron hands of military power in silk gloves of seductive culture to potentially fulfill this prophetic description of having powers of perception and a presence in the world system that's greater than its associates is the United States of America.

Fraudulent ephah extends U.S. vision facilitating capitalism's globalization

Article 1, Section 10 of the Constitution of the United States of America states that "No state ...shall make any Thing but gold and silver coin a Tender in payment of debts." The Federal Reserve Act, however, became law in 1913. It placed the Constitutional Power of Congress to regulate the U.S. economy into the hands of private banks. A dollar was no longer a unit of measurement. Instead, it became the thing it was supposed to measure. With the end of silver coinage in the 1960's and dollar convertibility into gold in 1971; the paper dollar had become intrinsically worthless and unconstitutional. In prophetic biblical terms of Zechariah 5:8, the dollar as a global medium of exchange had become a fraudulent ephah. It was now worth only what computerized financial markets decided.

Congressman Charles Lindbergh stated shortly after the "Federal" Reserve Act was passed by a depleted Congress on December 23, 1913:

"The Act establishes the most gigantic trust on earth. When the President [Wilson] signs this Bill, the invisible government of the monetary power will be legalized....The greatest crime of the ages is perpetrated by this banking and currency bill." (source: Wisdom and Freedom produced by WORLD NEWSTAND Copyright 1999.)

President Wilson signed the Federal Reserve Act. A few years later he wrote:

"...I have unwittingly ruined my country. A great industrial nation is controlled by its system of credit. Our system of credit is concentrated. The growth of the nation, therefore, and all our activities are in the hands of a few men."

In combination with the fraudulent dollar, financial firms could now deploy computer techniques extending their vision globally providing electronic search - and-deploy capability to maximize profits.

Not only has the fraudulent ephah helped extend the vision of America. Consider these thoughts from the pen of Zbigniew Brzezinski, currently a Counselor for Strategic and International Studies and professor of foreign policy at The John Hopkins University. Brzeninski was the National Security Advisor under President Carter and is considered to be one of the world's most penetrating analysts of international politics. Global leaders from Javier Solana to Kofi Annan acknowledge that Brzezinski's 2004 book, The Choice, makes a compelling case for U.S. leadership amongst a cooperative, global partnership of nations. Brzezinski reminds us that the "soft power" of the U.S. to entice and attract lovers of the global world system her hegemony promotes include US domination of American films, television, music, web sites, brand names, eating habits, language and education of global leaders in all walks of life. ⁶ It's been estimated that over 80% of the global transmission and data processing begins in America. (Zbigniew Brzezinski, Out of Control, MacMillan Publishing Company, New York, 1993) Over 1900 years ago the prophet John expressed the allurements of America as a fallen, demonically possessed global whore the Lord Jesus Christ identifies as Babylon the Great in Revelation 17-18. In this vision, the fall of the U.S. is described as being a by-product of the demonic deception and seduction of the idolatry resulting from her sumptuous wealth and global prominence in trade, manufacturing and entertainment.

Washington D.C.: Global Capital

Brzezinski also reminds us that American hegemony; its position of global leadership in trade and finance despite its lack of sovereign rule over others, is visibly expressed in the form of the first global political capital in the history of the world located in Washington, D.C.

He writes:

“Decisions made within two overlapping but relatively tight triangles project U.S. power worldwide and heavily influence the way globalization (my note added: globalization is the interaction of information technology and the global economy) evolves. A line drawn from the White House to the monumental Capital building, to the fort-like Pentagon, and then back to the White House encapsulates that triangle of power. Another line from the White House to the World Bank just a few blocks away, to the State Department, and back to the White House (thus also encompassing the International Monetary Fund and the Organization of American States) demarcates the triangle of Influence. The two triangles together signal the degree to which traditional “foreign affairs” have become inside the beltway affairs.”⁷

Brzezinski points out that the U.S. has the world’s loudest voice in the World Trade Organization (WTO), the International Bank For Reconstruction and Development (The World Bank), and the International Monetary Fund (IMF). He believes that this provides the U.S. with the perfect fit between global hegemony and economic globalization; allowing the U.S. to promote an open global system, define most of its rules, and choose its own level of dependence upon the system.⁸

UN: property of the US

Even the United Nations isn’t a hedge against U.S. hegemony as Niall Ferguson points out. Ferguson, a Senior Fellow of the Hoover Institution, Stanford University, a Senior Research Fellow of Jesus College, Oxford and Herzog Professor of Financial History at the Stern School of Business, New York University reminds us that the U.N. was largely a U.S. creation. The 50 states of the U.S. adopted the original UN Charter in San Francisco, California in 1945.¹⁰

Ferguson tells us that as a creature of the U.S., the UN is located on a site donated it by the Rockefeller family.

Harry S. Truman has said:

“The United Nations was largely established through the initiative and support of the United States and has its home here.” (Harry S. Truman, Mr. Citizen, Popular Library, New York, 1960, pg. 209)

Though a generation separated, Ferguson and Truman both realize that the UN isn’t an alternative to the U.S. As in Truman’s day, today the U.N. can’t run counter to the U.S. because it still needs the U.S. more than the U.S. needs it.

The annual U.N. budget is less than .1% of the annual U.S. budget. The U.S.

remains the UN's largest contributor paying over 20% of its 2 year budget. So called UN power lies in the permanent UN Security Council of the U.S., Britain, Russia, France and China. UNSC resolutions can deny US foreign policy on paper, but in reality such denials mean basically nothing in reality to an economic power like the U.S. with a Gross Domestic Product almost 2 times the size of this group combined. ¹¹

Former UN Secretary-General Boutros-Ghali writes in Unvanquished: a US-UN Saga, that the UN is now the sole property of a single power - the US - which, through intimidation, threats and the use of its veto, manipulates the world body for the benefit of its own interest. (Boutros Boutros-Ghali, Unvanquished: a US-UN Saga (New York: Random House, 1999 as quoted in Ziauddin Sardar, Merryl Wynn Davies, Why Do People Hate America, UK, Icon Books Ltd, 2002, pg. 63)

Dore Gold served as Israel's ambassador to the UN from 1997 -1999. In his book, Tower of Babble, Gold reminds us that the UN Charter is not supposed to supercede the U.S. Constitution for Americans. UN General Assembly resolutions don't create international law. He points out that former President Kennedy supported the UN as a reflection of U.S. aims and ideals inscribed in our Constitution and its purpose was to "convert the high goals of our own foreign policy into living reality." (Dore Gold, Tower of Babble, Crown Forum, New York, 2004, pg's 15, 35, 40)

Although we know that the UN will be someday revamped or replaced to become the 10 nation body presided over by the little horn Antichrist the Beast 666, the King Of Babylon; today's UN isn't organized for that role. Because it lacks firm standards of behavior for member states, it lacks the moral clarity to lead the world. As a result, the U.S. and her allies have chosen to lead the world to its prophesied false state of "peace and safety". "Peace and safety" means prosperity and security. The scriptures tell us that the world be talking of security and prosperity just prior to the day of the Lord, the unleashing of God's just wrath upon the ungodly nations of Antichrist's World Order. (1 Thessalonians 5:1-3; Jeremiah 23)

How Stout is America's Vision

In trumpeting the benefits of SPP, The Security and Prosperity Partnership (SPP) between the U.S., Mexico and Canada, the U.S. is clearly speaking Antichrist-like in crying "peace and safety" to the nations. (1 Thessalonians 5:1 -3)

Just how loud has the voice of the U.S. become in the world? How stout is her vision in this New American Century?

President Theodore Roosevelt's 1904 Corollary to the Monroe Doctrine declared the need in some cases for the U.S. to exercise "international police power." ¹²

Former U.S. President Harry Truman once argued that the only way to “save the world from totalitarianism” was for “the whole world [to] adopt the American system, “ for “the American system” could survive only by becoming a “world system.“ ¹⁷

Again I must pause to ask Pastors and church leaders:

Doesn't 1 John 2:15 command us not to love the world? Isn't the world referred to here the kosmos; the Satanically engineered antichristian world system? Why then are you married to that system and incorporated under it's authority as a 501-c3 American Church? If you don't understand this issue, please check out the following links so that you can understand you're responsibilities as a follower of the Lord Jesus Christ and a shepherd to his sheep. Please see pages 3-8 and page 23 at the link <http://www.irs.gov/pub/irs-pdf/p1828.pdf> for supporting documentation from the IRS explaining that a church can't legally benefit from 501-c3 status and hold beliefs that violate or are contrary to fundamental, clearly defined public policy.

Church members:

Have you spoken to your pastor about the 501-c3 issue so that he can come out of this system and freely speak in official capacity concerning issues of public policy that affect American lives without committing fraud by receiving tax benefits illegally. As pastor of a 501-c3 church, your pastor can't support beliefs that are contrary to clearly defined public policy. Please see pages 3 -8 and page 23 at the link <http://www.irs.gov/pub/irs-pdf/p1828.pdf> for supporting documentation from the IRS.

To biblically answer the question concerning just how stout America's vision has become; consider that Jesus Christ once told those who doubted the extent of his power over all forces of evil that “he that is not with me is against me...” (Luke 11:23)

United States President George W. Bush has stolen these words of Jesus Christ and blasphemously placed the United States in Christ's rightful position of sovereign authority within Christ's words. He has misused these words to establish a global line in the sand that other individuals and nations dare not cross or else they will incur America's wrath. President Bush's line in the sand tells the world that “who is not with us is against us”. In other words, those that refuse to follow the leadership of the U.S. in the global war on terrorism are now considered to be enemies of the state.

Doctrinally, President Bush has coupled this blasphemous global line in the sand with the iron fist of American military power and Dictatorial Acts. The 2002 Bush Administration's National Security Policy states America's right to “act preemptively...to forestall or prevent...hostile acts by our adversaries...even if uncertainty remains as to the time and place of our enemies attack.” ¹⁶

The 2006 Military Commissions Act (H.R. 6166) endows either the POTUS or the U.S. Secretary of Defense with dictatorial authority to establish trial by military commissions under chapter 47A of title 10, U.S. code for such unlawful or lawful enemy combatants which are identified by review tribunals.

In addition to these totalitarian moves, the U.S. government is actively developing, testing and promoting biometric technology as a means to enhance global security and streamline legitimate global trade and travel. The U.S. is working with the rest of the world through harmonizing standards, technology and business processes in order to achieve these goals. Coupled with her supreme military power, biometric technology provides the U.S. with real-time vision more powerful than any of her political associates, This empowers the U.S. to fulfill Babylon's The Great's prophetic role as the "hammer of the whole earth" (Jeremiah 51:23) and "Mother of Harlots" (Revelation 17:1-2, 18:3). The U.S.'s wrath or fierce power is used to force renegade, non-integrating nation-states to integrate into the system of globalized trade she's mothering or spreading like a whore in the globalization of capitalism, the unjust ephah. For a detailed study of this scripture please see the link : (Mystery, Babylon The Great \(Chp. 8: Superpower's Force Drives Idolatrous Free Global Trade\))

The government of Antichrist; the final form of globalized financial capitalism, will include a mandatory mark which will give the citizens under his totalitarian new world order permission to participate in the world economy. (Revelation 13:16-18)

This mark will be the ultimate form of global identification. It's only logical to foresee that this technology will be sold to the globally, capitalistic world as a component of an efficient, interoperable global biometric system. This mark would provide an efficient means to accomplishing the current goals of the NSTC listed below:

- Identify criminals and “terrorists” (lawful & unlawful enemy combatants)
- Background checks
- Border security
- Facilitating travel and trade
- Promoting officer and school safety
- Protecting government assets
- Identity management

The U.S. is working with the rest of the world through harmonizing standards, technology and business processes in order to achieve the goals of increasing global security and streamlining the trade process. As mentioned earlier in this e-book, Fallujah, Iraq is currently being used as a testing ground for a predecessor of the final form of System Administration technology to be employed as a means of security in the future global empire of Antichrist the Beast 666, the future King of Babylon.

In my well researched opinion and biblical foresight, the war on terror begun by President Bush is being used as a pretext to push the world into a permanent state of war justifying a means of marking or identifying supporters of the war on terror and those labeled enemies of the state or terrorists for their failure to support U.S. policy concerning this calling to war.

As mentioned earlier in this chapter, H.R. 6166, the Military Commissions Act signed by President Bush in October 2006, gives President Bush or a successor to him, the dictatorial authority to determine who the unlawful and lawful enemy combatants of the U.S. are globally and to detain and torture them. The following links reveal more details and analysis of this Act and it's potential application even to American citizens.

<http://www.cato-at-liberty.org/2006/10/02/does-the-military-commission-act-apply-to-us-citizens/>

The following quote taken from a publication entitled Science and Technology: A Foundation For Homeland Security (April 2005) issued by the Executive Office of the President of the United States of America through the National Science and Technology Council (NSTC) expresses the reality of identification technology ready to be implemented in order to separate those that stand in support of President Bush and the war on terror and those that oppose this war.

“Strategies for finding terrorists can be complicated by their efforts to disguise themselves among innocent civilians. As a counter to this, the implementation of biometric technologies ... shows great promise in improving the accuracy, consistency, and efficiency of identification devices“

Going a step further in identifying the biometric technology the U.S. government plans to employ in the global war on terror; NSTC states that as a part of Fiscal Year 2007, administration research and development priorities are that “agencies should place increased emphasis on R&D efforts that support...enhanced biometric systems...”

In a May 2006 Informational Meeting, NSTC's Subcommittee on Biometrics presented a policy titled: Taking Today's Biometrics to Meet Tomorrow's Needs. The NSTC Subcommittee on Biometrics is a part of the NSTC bureaucratic hierarchy led by the NSTC Director. Reporting to the Director are the following four Committees: Environment and Natural Resources; Science; Technology; and Homeland and National Security. The Biometrics group reports to both the Committee on Technology and the Committee on Homeland and National Security. Taking Today's Biometrics to Meet Tomorrow's Needs reveals that NSTC's Subcommittee on Biometrics works cooperatively to advance interoperable biometric systems capable of positively identifying individuals located in schools, businesses, government and other facilities and roadways through the following means:

- Fingerprint recognition
- Face recognition
- Iris recognition
- Next generation biometrics
- Multi biometrics

In the area of fingerprint recognition, a joint effort by the Departments of Justice, Homeland Security, Defense and State have produced a 6" x 6" x 6" size device called the LScan Guardian manufactured by Cross Match and scheduled to be available in 2007. Lscan is certified by the FBI and is capable of 10 print Slap Capture of Fingerprints in less than 15 seconds.

The following report indicates that the U.S. is already employing an advanced biometric system to identify "insurgents" in it's testing ground of Fallujah, Iraq.

FALLUJAH, Iraq — When gunmen hid a bomb in front of his house a few days ago, intending to use it against U.S. or Iraqi troops, Majeed al-Rawi had only one option: Move out.

"If I report it to the Americans, I will be killed by the men who put it there, and if I don't, my family will be killed either by the explosion or the Americans," the car dealer said. "This is not a way to live; this is a way to hate life."

Two years after American troops launched a devastating ground assault aimed at purging the heart of the Iraqi insurgency, Fallujah once again is a violent place.

In recent months, insurgents have filtered back into the city, despite tight controls that limit access to only six checkpoints. Residents must submit to an extraordinary identification system that includes fingerprinting, retina scans and bar-coded identification cards. ...(see link: <http://www.realcities.com/mlid/kwashington/15944717.htm>)

Additionally, in 2005, the Bush Administration established the REAL ID Act of 2005 (H.R. 418) to "tighten procedures for non-citizen entry into and presence in the U.S., facilitates the building of physical barriers where appropriate to protect U.S. borders, and facilitates the strengthening by the States of the standards for the security and integrity of drivers' licenses."

The REAL ID Act of 2005 (H.R. 1268) Sec. 202 mandates in 2008 that a Federal agency may not accept, for any official purpose, a driver's license or identification card issued by a State to any person unless the State is meeting the following minimum Federal requirements for driver's licenses and identification cards:

- Compatibility with a common machine-readable technology, with defined minimum data elements
- Mandatory facial image capture (digital photograph)
- Physical security features designed to prevent tampering, counterfeiting or duplication for fraudulent purposes

Section 302 mandates that in 2005 the Undersecretary of Homeland Security for Science and Technology develop a pilot program utilizing a variety of ground surveillance technologies that must include video cameras, sensors and motion detectors on the northern and southern borders of the U.S.

Do we see the unfolding global reality of an Orwellian 1984 State being created for us in the name of peace, security and prosperity by the U.S. government? Do we see the day of the Lord on the horizon with cries of "peace and safety" in the news and in public policy-and the other biblical sign signaling the nearness of that day...hearts scoffing in these last days that things are no different today than they've ever been?

In a Foreign Press Center Briefing in Washington, DC on 1/10/2006, Jim Williams, Director, US-VISIT, Department of Homeland Security expresses the possibility that the 2008 real ID driver's licenses could meet government border crossing needs. Mr. Williams is quoted in article entitled; Coming to America: US-VISIT and U.S. Visa Waiver Program Updates which can be referenced at the following link: <http://fpc.state.gov/fpc/58824.htm>

In this interview, Mr. Williams reveals that 27 countries are already involved in the Visa Waiver Program whose travelers are included in the US-VISIT program. http://www.dhs.gov/xtrvlsec/programs/editorial_0525.shtm

After 10/26/2006, all travelers will be issued electronic passports (e-passports) that will include biometrics imbedded in an integrated chip (IC). Williams also reveals that the U.S. government has an active pilot program using Radio Frequency Identification (RFID) in the 5 ports of entry of Canada and Mexico. He emphasizes the U.S. need to make things better by using technology and business processes that will improve processing times and eliminate bottlenecks at the busiest locations of Laredo and San Diego.

As posted in Chapter 4 of this e-book within the chapter found at the link, Zechariah 5:9-11 \(2 Woman Bear the Ephah to Shinar: \(U.S. & Shadow Gov't Move Capitalism To Iraq\); Mr. Williams is quoted as seeking a global REAL ID. In another article, Mr. Williams is quoted as seeking change on a global basis. The original article can also be read at the link:

As a degreed Industrial Engineer, I've been trained in operations research in order to improve safety, productivity and reduce processing times in order to reduce unit cost and increase corporate profit. Regrettably, I easily understand how mandatory mark technology; most likely an IC embedded in the human body; could one day soon be economically justified by controlling financial elite and sold to the majority capitalist mindset as the ultimate financial and security solution to bottleneck crises being created at U.S. borders by Bush administration North American Union trade and open border amnesty immigration policies. After all, as an occult Skull and Bonesman initiate, President Bush has apparently exchanged his soul to further the development of the antichristian New World Order driven by the Freemasonic philosophy; "Ordo Ab Chao" (Order Out Of Chaos). Although the untrained eye might fall prey to the false caricature painted of President Bush as a naive, Bible believin'/Jesus lovin', good 'ol southern Texas cowboy; in reality President Bush is an extremely well rounded person; a masterful politician who has become "all things to all people" in order to accomplish the agenda established for him by those in ultimate control of U.S. policy. He's a highly educated, finely polished, very wealthy, blue-blooded elite New England Yale Yankee. He's a driven politician who has apparently offered himself to be willingly maneuvered by the demonic controlled puppeteers pulling his strings and making him and other global leaders dance to Satan's conspiracy engineering the Beast 666's Antichristian New World Order. Please intelligently pray that President Bush; if he hasn't already blasphemed the Holy Spirit; would truly repent of his sins, make Jesus Christ his Lord and Master, and begin reproving the secret evils of the Antichristian New World Order System he promotes. (1 Timothy 2:1-5; Ephesians 5:11-12) For further understanding of this topic, please read the study found at the following link: America: Fallen, Fallen \(Chp. 6: Freemasonry In American Church & State\)

The Grand Strategy - Borderless Thinking; Global Homeland

Zbigniew Brzezinski states that America needs forces with decisive capability, improved intelligence and a continuation of its technological edge in order to guarantee security in America and around the world. He feels that if the world understands that the “trajectory of America’s grand strategy is toward a global community of shared interest” that it will be easier for America to achieve these needs.⁹

What is this grand strategy that Brzezinski is referring to? Is U.S. strategic military planning content on securing simply the “homeland” of the United States. No, as Brzezinski stated, our aim is toward a global community of shared interest.

According to Thomas Barnett, Assistant for Strategic Futures in the Office of Force Transformation, Office of the Secretary of Defense from 11/2001 to 6/2003; by design the western world watched the shocking real time collapse of the Twin Towers on 9/11/2001 facilitating President Bush’s June 2002 unveiling of the big new rule, the System Perturbation called the strategy of preemption, or preemptive strike doctrine.¹

President Bush has also been reported as stating his desire for America to be thought of more as an idea than a place with borders.
(http://www.worldnetdaily.com/news/article.asp?ARTICLE_ID=53023)

Thomas P.M. Barnett dogmatically asserts that a new Pentagon is needed and that there will be other “911’s” until the entire U.S. government reorders our entire national defense establishment around it.² Barnett believes we need more destiny made manifest and less love for the homeland. He states that there are only two types of people in the world: those who live in states united and those who someday will.³

An illustration of this borderless thinking in American politics is The Security and Prosperity Partnership (SPP) between the U.S., Mexico and Canada. This dialogue effectively erases national borders between these three nations; functionally linking them in a borderless, trilateral union which it’s proponents claim will leave the unique cultural and legal framework of each of the three countries intact. See the link below for more information on SPP.

Resilient National Reconstruction: Healing fatal national wounds

American strategists have developed information technology that enables institutions and governments to rapidly resurrect themselves following a catastrophic system event. Such technology could be a means to the fulfillment of the prophecy recorded in Revelation 13:3,14 which teaches that one of the 7 heads or kings of a 10 horned or nation beast is resurrected after being violently destroyed.

Interestingly, Thomas Barnett, who once taught Marxism at Harvard, spent his years prior to 9/11 working with the global bond marketing firm Cantor Fitzgerald drawing new “maps” of power and influence in the global economy. In this New Rule Sets Project, Mr. Barnett mapped globalization’s flows with Cantor Fitzgerald. In this process, Barnett regularly visited the WTC and the Pentagon helping Wall Street and the Pentagon understand the connection between national security and globalization. Barnett was working with Cantor on a computer model or simulation of the migration or flows of people, energy, investments and U.S. security services required to balance the global system by keeping labor, energy, money and security freely flowing from regions of plenty in the globalized Core to regions of scarcity in the disconnected Gap or the New Core when 911 occurred. ⁴

Coincidentally?, Cantor’s headquarters were located on the 105th floor of the WTC. Yet, the firm had back-up facilities in London and prior plans established that enabled it to have it’s global electronic bond markets up and running just 2 days after 9/11. Astonishingly, the firm also was able to turn a profit in 2001’s 4th quarter despite losing 685 people and facilities in the WTC explosions. Cantor did this by electronically cloning a cannibalizing competitor, eSpeed, in 1999. eSpeed was simply a streamlined version of Cantor which was ready to absorb Cantor and bring global bond markets back on line 2 days after the attacks. ⁵

Cantor’s resurrection in London just two days from it’s fatal wound in New York is astonishing to those familiar with the story. On a much smaller scale, Cantor’s feat helps us understand how the fulfillment of Revelation 13:3 is technologically possible and why the global community will follow the beast with admiration after this nation is astonishingly resurrected following a seemingly fatal military defeat.

Barnett is currently working as Distinguished Strategist at Oak Ridge Center for Advanced Studies. (<http://orcas.ornl.gov/about/staff.htm>) He is Involved in Enterprise Resilience Management working with Stephen F. DeAngelis, founder, President and CEO of Enterra Solutions. DeAngelis is a Visiting Scientist at the Software Engineering Institute at Carnegie Mellon University. Their work, titled “Development in a Box (DIB)”, is focused upon establishing prior plans to reconnect governments and institutions to the global network in the event of system disruptive military conflicts. The following piece written by Mr. DeAngelis was found at <http://www.tcsdaily.com/article.aspx?id=040506D> explaining their work.

In this new convergence of people, processes and technology, there is the heart of an entirely new opportunity for post-conflict reconstruction. To realize the potential, it’s necessary to create a flexible framework -- one that brings together private- and public-sector capabilities for the post-conflict task. Tom Barnett, author of The Pentagon's New Map and I have been at work on such a framework, which we call "Development in a Box." We see its development in four stages.

In the first stage, best practitioners -- from both government and the private sector -- set to work on the challenge of post-conflict reconstruction in a particular country or region. Best practices, standards and performance metrics are established -- determining, for example, that "this is the most effective rapid manner in which to set up a central bank." These best practices are then recorded in a catalogue for core infrastructural platforms.

In the second stage, the best practices catalogue is put into action -- local institutions are established according to its guidelines. As part of this process, the needed technology platforms are put in place -- we provide pre-configured information systems and associated technologies, such as container scanners for port security. In effect, we jump-start the systems and establish trust within the country, which is a node in a larger geo-political ecosystem of "trusted nations." These nations, in turn, make it possible to connect that node safely to the larger networks of transactions that we call the global economy.

The third stage is truly revolutionary. Here, best practices and information systems converge. The best practices, standard operating procedures and compliance rules for each institution are transformed into executable software code that governs the operation of each institution. Business logic, best practices and governance operate directly through the information systems. Additional automated rule sets are embedded that connect the institutions in a secure, compliant and efficient manner to global partners such as the International Monetary Fund, the World Trade Organization and the World Health Organization. The node-state, once verified, joins the larger network under conditions of real trust and efficiency.

In stage four, the local population takes over. Locals are offered training to operate the core infrastructural platforms. Training involves the local community in the transfer of intellectual capital, and aligns the natural ambitions of local leaders with the local population on the one hand, and the global community on the other. It is in the self-interest of the local community to master best practices, best technologies, and global connectivity and integration. All of those, in turn, lead to local self-sufficiency and stability, shortening our term of providing aid.

The process is neither instant nor generic, and no, it will not magically surmount local resistance to social and economic connectivity with the world at large. That effort requires expert knowledge and "boots on the ground," and the modification of templates to account for specific cultural needs. The task of setting up a banking system will be similar the world over, but will have to be modified somewhat in Islamic countries to account for beliefs regarding interest charges. Nevertheless, a significant part of the reconstruction task will be common across boundaries. The framework harnesses a corporate best practice -- productization -- creating a post-conflict reconstruction system that can be replicated quickly, effectively and cost-efficiently in country after country, region after region. Another article found at <http://www.enterrasolutions.com/> reveals the groundbreaking global magnitude and potential power of reconstruction in Enterra Solutions work.

Supercomputers at Oak Ridge National Laboratory define a worst-case scenario, devise a plan to avoid it and notify assets to carry it out. Then, the system alerts and allocates resources to support the decisions that have been made. One such decision may be immediate evacuation, with the automated rule sets changing traffic patterns and bringing police to speed progress. All these actions take place in a matter of a few seconds.

With this information compiled in an easily understood Web-based interface, first responders and other key decision makers can take actions that deflect the impact of otherwise disastrous events, reducing costs and saving lives.

The complexity of Enterra's undertaking at Oak Ridge, and the importance of its potential applications to all aspects of national security and future competitiveness, led Mockenhaupt to describe it as "another Manhattan Project, a group of disparate players coming together to solve a special problem."

The article also summarizes Enterra's work on the "Development-in-a-Box" (DIB). DIB essentially brings the automated rule set system driving Enterra's software programming solutions into the physical reality of restoring institutions and order to failing or failed states in the 21st century.

In the event of a failing state that threatens to destabilize a region, DIB offers the opportunity to say "here's the infrastructure, we'll put this in place if you subscribe to transparency and the rules of the game," says DeAngelis. "Now we're going to make the rules flexible for your particular country and your needs, but we're not going to invest money in something where you're going to be building Beta and we know you need VHS."

Knowing Barnett's pre-911 involvement with the WTC, Pentagon and Cantor Fitzgerald and the rapid recovery of Cantor after 911; is it possible that "Development in a Box" (DIB) is being used to reconstruct a streamlined U.S. government infrastructure in Iraq to be up and running in the event of a coming system perturbation; a terribly destructive attack upon the United States homeland? Is this what the mysterious 104 acre United States Embassy complex in Iraq scheduled for completion by 6/2007 is all about? (see the link

Will this new image of the United States in Iraq be ready to be reconnected to the Global network when Babylon the Great, the 7th king of Revelation 17:10-18 currently known as the United States of America, is suddenly destroyed?

Will the 10 nations that destroy the U.S. homeland, in wondered astonishment at the rapid resurrection in Iraq of a globally networked and streamlined U.S. government, then give this resurrected U.S. government in Iraq the keys to their 10 nation kingdom in order that the POTUS can rule them as the prophesied 8th king, Antichrist the Beast 666, in fulfillment of Revelation 13 and 17:10-18?

Conclusion

Daniel 8:9 tells us that the little horn, the kingdom of Antichrist, becomes exceedingly powerful expanding in a southeasterly direction toward Israel. Since Iraq is located east of Israel, this prophecy can't be fulfilled if the little horn originates in Iraq as the King of Babylon. The prophecy could hold true, however, if the little horn originates in the west and expands toward the south and east as the United States has done and continues to do.

The United States currently reigns as the 7th king of Revelation 17:10-18. If the U.S. in the west is destroyed by a fatal wound (Revelation 13:4-18), but is resurrected or healed in Iraq to become the 8th king (Revelation 17:7-18), the U.S. is positioned to absorb two biblical titles attributed to Antichrist; the King Of Babylon and the Assyrian. This chain of events would also fulfill biblical prophecy that Antichrist will rule from territory which was originally a part of the eastern leg of the Roman Empire. (Daniel 8)

Is America moving toward the pleasant land, the land of Israel, as Daniel 8:9 says that the little horn will?

It's no secret that the U.S. is determined to transform the Middle East. President Bush's Roadmap To Peace has been in the forefront of world news for years. Secretary of State Rice believes we're now experiencing the birth pangs of a new Middle East. Brzezinski points out that the Middle East is an area of strong American interest and that Israeli-Palestinian peace is the key to a peaceful Middle East.¹³ Thomas Barnett has stated that the current mess the U.S. military is in in the Middle East will serve to transform it into what it needs to become to play Leviathan to the Gap as a whole. He states that "we are never leaving the Middle East until the Middle East joins the Core".¹⁴ In other words, Order is planned out of this Chaos and that order will be established by a fierce display of American force in Iraq. American victory in Iraq will be a win for globalization. It's a major step in getting the Middle East connected to the global economy and our rules for security and prosperity.

The other part of the Middle East transformation is peace between the state of Israel and the Palestinian Arabs. Thomas Barnett advocates the option of a New Berlin Wall, a long-term peacekeeping mission spearheaded by the United States to the wall and the border left by the 1967 War. This show of force would physically separate the West bank and Gaza from Israel; walling off Israel from Palestine.¹⁵ Is this a call for a show of American military force a prelude to the abomination of desolation being deployed in Israel; the forces of Antichrist deployed in and around Jerusalem? (Luke 21:20-24; Matthew 24:15-22; Daniel 9:27; Daniel 12:1)

Watch and pray!

It's too early to be dogmatic in predicting these events. I present this study as biblical based theory for purposes of stimulating watchful prayer and further biblical research and study. It's not too early to be watching and praying as Jesus asks us to concerning world affairs which affect human lives both inside and outside the church. God is sovereign, however, the effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availed much. (1 Timothy 2:1-4; Luke 21:36; Revelation 3:3; Colossians 4:2; 1 Corinthians 16:13; 1 Thessalonians 5:6; Acts 20:31)

Ezekiel 22:17-31 are words from the Lord spoken through Ezekiel concerning the fact that the Lord was looking for someone who would lead the house of Israel to repent of her secular idolatry, (Ezekiel 22:26), political corruption and greed (Ezekiel 22:27), greedy false prophecy (Ezekiel 22:25, 28), injustice, robbery, and mistreatment of aliens and the poor (Ezekiel 22:29). Notice that the Lord was concerned the separation of the house of Israel from him was hurting people. Every American pastor, politician, government worker, military person, police officer, lawyer, teacher, business person, banker, entertainer, mother, administrator, engineer, programmer, mechanic, secretary, driver, pilot, farmer, hairdresser, athlete, clerk, ... who is separated from God by a habitual, unrepentant lifestyle involving atheism, occultism, covetous greed, materialism, entertainment idolatry, hate, prideful prejudice, false religion, selfish rage, mind altering drugs and drunkenness, extortion, stealing, lying, witchcraft, wild partying, sexual immorality, homosexuality or lesbianism is hurting someone else no matter how religious, successful, happy or unhappy they are in their sin. This is why the Lord wants his watchman to call all types of people to repentance; especially our politicians and cultural leaders whose relationship with God have a tremendous bearing on the Lord's ability to provide us with a quiet, peaceful, godly and truthful society in response to the prayer commanded of the church in 1 Timothy 2:1-4. He wants our leaders to be saved and he wants them to provide people with a society which cares about people's physical and spiritual needs.

Let's make 2007 a year of courage and love in Christ's church. As 1 Corinthians 16:13-14 teaches:

- Watch ye (be awake, informed and actively cautious concerning the trickery, deceit, and ludicrous strategies of the devil),
- stand fast (persevere, never give up) in the faith (hopeful trust in God's Word),
- quit ye like men (act brave),
- be strong (increase in spiritual strength).
- Let all things be done with charity (brotherly love and benevolent good will).
